"G's" HARDER TO EARN NOW

The Athletic Association is "tightening up" on the awarding of "G's". Following the recent editors in Chief, Hovis in this regard, the board of directors of the A. A. met last Sunday afternoon and voted not to award letters to the 60. Manager Larkin, of the A. A., future will witness strict regulations in regard the track "G". It is expected the requirements will be a first place in the South Atlantic Indoor meet, first three places in S. A. outdoor, and one point in the Intercollegiates. In the past the gaining of one point in a South Atlantic event entitled a runner to his "G".

The officers of the Athletic Association plan to award minor "Gs" in the form "R G T" to those of the first team who qualify in 50 per cent of the intercollegiate matches under the National Association. According to Chas. F. Reegan, secretary of the A. A., the future will witness strict regulations in regard the track "G". shooting along at nearly 50 miles an hour, the bullet hit Welch, and “F. D.” himself was having a hard time retaining his hold, he suddenly thought that Welch had not been feeling well for several days. Fearful that in his weakened condition hisชุด might lose his precarious grip, Byrne, with the train going at a terrific pace, managed to crawl to the other car, and placing his body and arms as a protective barrier, sought to take some of the strain from Welch. In this manner his body protruded further from the car than it would have if he remained in his first position.

Near Halethorpe, not far from Baltimore, there is a culvert. A protruding arm struck Byrne and the Georgetown lay was hurled to an almost instantaneous death. Welch’s cries finally attracted the attention of the conductor and he was pulled to safety, just before reaching another obstruction even nearer the tracks than the one which caused Byrne’s death. The engineer of another train following in the wake of the one the Georgetown men were on, discovered the young man’s body from the rays of the engine’s headlights. Because of the delay in the coroner’s examination, Georgetown was not notified until early Monday morning. As soon as the location of the body could be ascertained, Rev. John B. Creedon, S. J., President of the University, and Albert T. Rourke, Byrnes room-mate, went to Baltimore.

The body reached the College Tuesday by a special train on Wednesday morning when it was taken to the Byrne home in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Byrne, the boy’s parents, arrived at the College Tuesday evening from their winter home in Mobile, Ala. Mr. William Byrne, an elder brother, came earlier the same evening from Chicago. The funeral will take place Saturday morning in Chicago. Religious exercises were held at the college Wednesday evening.

Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., Dean of the College, left this morning for Chicago where he will deliver the oration at the funeral services. He was accompanied by Joseph G. Denney, Alfred D. Reid, Albert T. Rourke, Murray MacElhinney, and Philip J. Hahn, classmate of the deceased boy, and George Kearns, of the Law School, who will act as pallbearers.

The news of young Mr. Byrne’s tragic and heroic death reached the student body early Monday morning. A pall of sorrow has hung over the College ever since. Byrne was one of the most popular and well liked men at Georgetown, though it was his first year here. Previously he was a student at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Alabama, and later at Catholic University in this city. Beautiful floral offerings from all the classes and individual friends attested to the esteem in which he was held.

Peter D. Byrne was born in Corpus Christi, Texas, February 28, 1901. He was the youngest of a family of ten children. Besides his parents he is survived by three brothers and five sisters, two of whom are members of religious orders.

Rev. Francis A. Tondorf, S. J., has resumed his duties as Assistant Dean of the Medical School after returning from his brother’s funeral in Boston February 17. Josef H. Tondorf died on Wednesday, Feb. 16th, in Boston of tubercular meningitis. The funeral was held from Holy Trinity Church. Mr. Tondorf is survived by his wife and six children.

affirmative to prove that there was a necessity for action which would destroy the open shop principle. This the affirmative evidently failed to do, but answered the question of indemnity by asserting with good evidence that the capital, in supporting the principle of the open shop, had the ultimate purpose in view to "crack the unions and to crack them wide open.”

The judges of the Yale-Georgetown debate were five in number. Rear Admiral William S. Benson, U. S. N. (retd.), Chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board; Hon. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals; Hon. Frels W. Booth, Associate Judge of the United States Court of Claims; Hon. James F. Smith, Associate Judge, United States Court of Customs Appeals; Mr. Gilbert Grovenor, President of the National Geographic Society.

The Georgetown team divided their side of the question into three parts: Mr. Jacobs, the first speaker, showed that the reputation of the labor unions in the past had been very beneficial to the working man. Mr. Darby, the second speaker for the affirmative, endeavored to prove that the recognition of the labor unions was necessary for the working man. Mr. Callahan, the third speaker, took up the question of the public welfare. He showed that the labor unions were necessary to the general public and that it would consequently be wrong not to abandon the principle of the "open shop." Mr. Denby, Princeton’s first speaker, explained Princeton’s interpretation of the question and outlined their plan of debate. He discriminated between the "closed union shop," "open shop" and "closed non-union shop." Mr. School, the second speaker for the negative, showed that sympathetic strikes were ruining the social order of the country and that they were the outcome of the labor unions. Mr. Warner, the third speaker, made the contention that any shop that was not an open shop was a closed shop, namely, one in which only union men were employed.

In the rebuttals, this last point became the point of issue of the debate. The Georgetown men distinguished between the closed shop and the open shop. It was their contention that the mere fact that union men were allowed to work in a factory or shop would not eliminate all other men who did not belong to the union. The Princeton debaters said that it would be only a question of time before the abandoning of the open shop would result in the "closed union shop." The judges of the debate were Hon. John K. Shields, United States Senator from Tennessee; Hon. William H. King, United States Senator from Utah; Hon. George E. Martin, Associate Judge United States Court of Customs Appeals; Hon. Frank Davis, Jr., Assistant United States Attorney General, and Mr. Myron P. Parker, President University Club.

In giving the decision of the judges Mr. Frank J. Hogan, LL. B., chairman of the debate, delivered a short speech in which he commended the members of both teams.

The reception committee was as follows: Mr. Meredith B. Reid, chairman; Mr. Frank W. Cullen, Mr. Thomas H. Gardner, Mr. C. John O’Neill, Jr., Mr. John M. Karns, Mr. Carroll H. Hill, Mr. John W. Bibbey, Mr. Bernard E. Schlesinger, Mr. James A. Thames, Mr. Walter J. Milan, Mr. Paul D’W. Page, Jr., Mr. John S. McCann, Mr. James A. Butler, Mr. William A. Twyford, Mr. Paul J. PRINCETON DEBATE

Princeton Defending Georgetown’s Position Of Thursday, Loses To G. U. Saturday.

Last Saturday evening, in Gaston Hall, the Georgetown debating team defeated Princeton University. The debate was a well contested one and very interesting to the large crowd that was in attendance. The question: "Resolved, that the employers of the United States should abandon the principle of the open shop," was the same as that of the Georgetown-Yale debate.

The Georgetown team, Mr. John J. Darby, Mr. John J. Jacobs and Mr. Edward J. Callahan, was the same that debated against Yale. Saturday night, however, they debated the affirmative side of the question instead of the negative, as on Thursday. The Princeton team consisted of Mr. Charles Denby, Mr. Robert H. School, and Mr. R. Miles Warner.

The official definition of "open shop" agreed to by both sides was given out as a shop in which trade union are not recognized.

The Georgetown team divided their side of the question into three parts: Mr. Jacobs, the first speaker, showed that the reputation of the labor unions in the past had been very beneficial to the working man. GEORGETOWN UNION
TO MEET SUNDAY

Interesting Program Arranged For Gathering—Committees Appointed.

The Georgetown Union will meet next Sunday, March 13, in Gaston Hall, at 10 a.m. Mass will be said in Dahlgren Chapel at 9 a.m., followed by a breakfast in the refectorory at 9:45 a.m.

The Divine Services, according to a member of the General Council, and the breakfast following it, are for the convenience of the members of the Union. All are invited and anyone may bring his friends, but it is not compulsory, although the breakfast charge is only nominal, usually twenty-five cents.

Clarence Churchman, chairman of the General Council, has announced the following committee appointments: Membership Committee—John J. Jacobs, chairman; Thomas F. O'Brien, Jr., John J. Murphy, Thomas F. Cullen.

By-laws Committee—Thomas F. Cullen, Chairman; Donald H. Glew, William J. Smith, J. Homer Butler.

Thomas A. Vogel, of the Medical School, Class ’21, has been selected by the General Chairman as the presiding officer for the meeting in Gaston Hall, following the short business meeting. He will prepare a program, calling upon several members of the Union, representative Georgetown men, to address the Union for ten minutes each. Some prominent speaker will deliver the main address. The whole program will be completed by 11:30.

A GREAT EDUCATOR.

Again that learned and capable head of Georgetown’s Foreign Service School receives international recognition. Too much praise cannot be given Father Walsh. He is doing great things for Georgetown, great things, and he has the whole-hearted support of every son of the Blue and Gray. Two years more, and his school will not only be as now, the greatest of its kind in the world, but will occupy a niche that will never be reached by other similar institutions.

A HERO’S DEATH.

Peter D. Byrne, happy, loveable, carefree “P. D.” Byrne, who had been chilled for the many Georgetown men who knew and loved “P. D.” Byrne, died as those who knew him best would have expected him to die, at the very last thinking “started something.” Loyal support from Major Hobson, coach of the rifle team, is highly gratifying.

A GAYE AND PRINCETON.

Worthy foes met Georgetown on the rostrum last week, and, though defeated, were fit representatives of those two great universities, Yale and Princeton. They expressed themselves as highly pleased with their stay at Georgetown. The debating team entertained the visitors at Wardman Park Hotel and the Columbia Country Club. Messrs. Jacobs, Callahan, and Darby appear to form the happiest combination in more than a year on a local collegiate platform and should go through a season of triumphs.

GOOD NEWS.

The news that the Athletic Association has “tightened up” on the awarding of “Gs” will be received with approval by everybody. As The Hoy pointed out recently, the more difficult the earning of a varsity letter, the more credit it will be for the earning of a varsity letter, and only those worthy of the great honor should boast its “G.” The Athletic Association is doing things in the right way. Let its official stand on the awarding of track “Gs” be made official. The idea is along the right lines. Make it a law.

STARTING SOMETHING.

The letter of appreciation in this week’s Hoy from Major Hobson, coach of the rifle team, is highly gratifying. The Hoy is not yet two years old. Its work for Georgetown has hardly started, and yet already it has “started something.” Loyal support from the undergraduates and alumni will make the paper in years to come far better than it is today.

Twenty Years Ago

The Georgetown University crew for the season of 1901 had rounded into excellent physical condition by the middle of March. Under the able coaching of Mr. Claude R. Zappone, the candidates for the Blue and Gray crew had been at the rowing machines for several weeks and by the twentieth of the month the shell had taken the water.

Followers of rowing as a sport at the Hilltop put forth a strenuous effort during the spring of 1901 to make the Georgetown Rowing Association a permanent thing at the University. In an attempt to raise funds which would enable the Association to purchase the Columbia Athletic Club boathouse and necessary equipment for the crew, a committee under the supervision of Mr. Zappone had sent out appeals for funds from the alumni and friends of the University. An entertainment held during April at the old Lafayette Theater in Washington was a source of revenue for the support of the sport at Georgetown.

By the twentieth of March the keys to the Columbia Athletic Club boathouse had been turned over to the University and the prospects for a brilliant crew season for the Blue and Gray were more than encouraging. It will be remembered that the 1901 Georgetown crew rowed a wonderful race at Poughkeepsie at the Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta in July.

Georgetown Runs Away with South Atlantic Indoor Meet

Georgetown Athletes Score Twice Points Of Hopkins, Next Highest.

Georgetown's track stars lived up to expectations last Thursday night when they captured enough of the South Atlantic Indoor Meet which Georgetown garnered from the South Atlantic's events alone.

Georgetown's points came in bunches. Jimmie Connolly, running in excellent form, achieved the S. A. half mile, followed closely by Walsh and Fitzgerald. The only other entries in the event were C. A. and Virginia. The first four places were Georgetown's only entries. The same form was repeated in the 440 yard dash, when the first four places went to Georgetown. Le Gendre took first, as expected, but was not pushed at any point in the race, and took it easy to win in 1/2, 2/3, 2/4, and 2/5 seconds. Following him was a second, Shalloo, Gannon and King, all wearing the Blue and Gray.

Johns Hopkins and Georgetown were the only entries for the South Atlantic mile relay. The top man from Hopkins' captain and star distance man opened up a twenty-yard lead on Marr, the second Blue and Gray man, and held that lead at any point in the race, and took it easy to win in 2/3 and 3/4 seconds. Following him came Gannon and King, all wearing the Blue and Gray.

EVENING STAR BUILDING WASHINGTON D C
Thursday's victory at the Catholic University track meet marked Georgetown's eighth consecutive victory in the South Atlantic championships. Back in 1914 the Blue and Gray team nosed out Virginia for the championships and has never lost it since.

Bob LeGendre's jinx seems to be still after him. After winning the 440 by a brilliant run, he was suddenly taken sick and had to withdraw from the 50-yard dash and the high jump. Toward the close of the evening he managed to get into the finals of the 50-yard hurdles, but had not sufficiently recovered, and lost to a man whose time he had bettered by 3/5 seconds in his trial heat.

The South Atlantic 880 looked more like a Georgetown event than a S. A. race. Connolly first, Walsh second, Fitzgerald third—that swelled Georgetown's point total considerably. It looked as if Walsh could have given Connolly a run for the first honors, and there is no doubt that he could have put up a pretty struggle, but the race was easily Georgetown's and all three took it easy.

Dorsey Griffith, one of the most famous sprinters who ever wore the Blue and Gray, was in last Thursday's meet, running under the colors of the Aloysius Club. Although he but recently recovered from typhoid, he was in old-time form and in the Aloysius Club-Baltimore Cross Country Club relay, running as anchor man, he overcame a forty-yard lead and won the event handily.

Georgetown has several baseball men who have been sought after by big league teams recently, but the latest is Art Rooney. Rooney was wanted by the Red Sox, but at present he is tutoring on the Varsity Field and looks like a real outfielder.
DELTA THETA PHI

Saturday evening, March 5th, Delta Theta Phi entertained at their usual formal dance. Excellent music was furnished under the direction of the popular "Jazz," "Stage" and "What Not" connoisseur, Mr. Frank J. Corcoran. The rendition of a couple of newly composed songs by Larry E. Lennon made the program most enjoyable.

Sunday, February 26th, the fraternity entertained at tea and the usual number of guests from the schools and homes here were present. Mr. Brooks-John, popular comedian and dancer from Keith's circuit, assisted by F. J. Corcoran and L. C. Lennon, furnished entertainment for the guests, as well as instilling pep into several fox trots.

On Thursday eve., March 17, another formal dance will be held at the house. No. 1 Dupont Circle, which promises to be a successful affair.

Saturday evening, April 8, Delta Theta Phi will hold its annual dance at the Wardman Park Inn. Exhaustive preparations are under way and from present indications the "Annual" will be even more successful than the very enjoyable eve at the Lafayette Hotel last year.

LAW NOTES.

During the past week the School of Law and Delta Theta Phi fraternity had occasion to welcome two former students who retired for short visits in the city. Mr. Raymond P. Birdsell, now of the United States Aviation, was entertained by White Senate, Delta Theta Phi, over the weekend. Mr. Birdsell returned February 26th from abroad, having been in all parts of the world since November, 1919. Mr. Guerra Everett, who holds a post-graduate chair at Columbia University, was another of the Alumni brothers to visit White Senate. Mr. Everett is a former U. S. law student and was very active in all procedures while here. Both Mr. Birdsell and Mr. Everett have returned to their duties in New York City. Mr. Everett is still actively engaged in fraternity work, doing some intensive work in Washington while here.

FRESHMAN LAW.

The Freshman class at the Law School following their recent and highly enjoyable smoker at the Washington have gone still farther in their social endeavor and have decided to hold a Prom from during Easter week. The committee has named the first of April as the day and the place is to be Wardman Park.

The following committees have been named to care for the details in connection with the Prom:

Finance—L. L. McKenna, chairman; F. W. Daley, McGroarty, Rosoff, Leary.

Hall and Refreshments—E. Dougherty, chairman; McNerney, Nugent, Keenan, Kelley.

Publicity—A. S. DeNeale, chairman; Gilmore, Merriam, Prendergast, Slattery.

Music and Favors—Heaphy, chairman; T. F. Daley, Nash, W. A. Smith, Kelley.

Decorations—Canfield, chairman; J. P. Burns, La Brosse, Murphy, J. P. Moore.

Musical Organizations Present Fine Program In Gaston Hall.

College songs, classical and sacred music featured the annual Mid-Lent concert of the combined Glee and Mandolin Club in Gaston Hall on Sunday night. The concert opened with "Music for the Republic," March and a College medley by the Mandolin Club under the leadership of Professor W. A. Smith, who had been with the club under his tutelage in preparation for the performance.

The concert, conducted by Mr. Edward P. Donovan and accompanied by John V. Walsh, "23, rendered several semi-classical and folk songs, chief among them being "The Lumber Camp Song," by Targent, and "The Swanee River," with the special arrangement of the music to harmonize with Dvorak's Humoresque. The instrumental solos of the program were two selections on the piano by John V. Walsh, which were received with enthusiasm by the audience, and three violin solos by Miss Helen Gerrer, two of them being selections by Kreisler, and the other "Romance," by Wieniawski.

Miss Agnes Whelan, soprano, accompanied by Mr. Donovan and Miss Gerrer, was very effective with the "Ave Maria," by Kahl, and "One Fine Day," an aria from "Madam Butterfly," by Puccini. The other soloist who greatly pleased the audience was Miss Claire Boyle, who sang "Revelation" and several Irish folk songs.

The second half of the program opened with the rendition of "Flanders' Requiem," which was sung by the Glee Club in memory of the Georgetown men who gave their lives for their country in the late World War. Another feature of the evening was the playing of several of the popular pieces of this year and a number of Hawaiian melodies by the Mandolin Club.

The concert ended with the audience standing while the Glee Club sang "Songs of Georgetown." This is the first appearance of the two clubs this year and a very good audience was present. The concert was for the benefit of the Athletic Association to clear off the small debt that remains on the bills.
