In an interview last evening with a Hoy's reporter, Murray MacElhinny, '21, President of the Yard, outlined in part his program for the year.

It is Mr. MacElhinny's intention to appoint members from all the different departments of the University to an advisory committee with which he will confer on matters affecting the entire student body.

Uppermost in the new executive's mind is the question of removing the present debt of the Athletic Association. "The big problem," the president stated last evening, "is to settle the A. A. debt of approximately $9,000, and to make the present athletic year pay for itself. To do this we intend to follow a policy of economy, which, though it will not curtail our athletic activities in any way, will result in a considerable saving." His methods of carrying out this plan are yet to be worked out.

Mr. MacElhinny further stated that the A. A. had so far been very successful in the sale of season tickets and of office equipment of various kinds in Caracas and throughout Venezuela than the regular commercial letter and the traveling agent who rushes through the land have achieved in the past five years. Moreover, there is a correspondence relating to bigger orders coming into business houses which have been established recently in Caracas, and it is probable that the new executive will promote these business interests.

The Georgetown delegation was welcomed in Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, by Dr. Gonzales Ricones, the Minister of Public Instruction in Venezuela, who placed at their disposal the official gazette of Venezuela, and offices are in the Metropolitan Bank Building.

Mr. Schick has been practicing law, in Philadelphia, as second assistant District attorney for the War Department. His resignation was accepted, after service as attorney for the War Department. His resignation was accepted, and plans for the year drawn up.

Charles R. Cox, graduate manager of athletics at Georgetown since 1914, and one of the most sincere and efficient officials in the history of the University, has resigned from his duties here to accept a responsible and more remunerative position with a large business house in Philadelphia. The A. A. board has taken the question of his successor under consideration.

Mr. Cox, affectionately known as "Charlie" to hosts of Georgetown men, was graduated from Georgetown in '04, and since that time has been always greatly interested in the University. Working under many handicaps because of lack of funds, Mr. Cox overcame all obstacles, and much of the credit for Georgetown's present standing in the athletic world is due to his untiring efforts.

At a recent meeting of the new board which is composed of student, alumni, and faculty representatives Mr. Cox's resignation was accepted, and the new athletic constitution discussed, and plans for the year drawn up.

Murray MacElhinny, '21, heads the board at present, with Charles R. Reagam, '21, secretary, and Paul Carlin, '21, assistant treasurer. Hugh J. Reagan, assistant dean at the Law School, serves as graduate treasurer, with Dr. Joseph McCarthy and John Saul, of Washington, completing the alumni representation. The faculty is at present represented by Dr. John Sughrue, of the School of Medicine; Frederick Stuhlbman, of the Law School, and Rev. Vincent S. McDonough, S. J., of the College. The executive committee of three will be in direct charge of athletic matters, and responsible to the

FOREIGN SERVICE PLACES STUDENTS

Georgetown Men Sail to All Parts of Globe.

Almost daily Father Walsh, S. J., Regent of the Foreign Service School, receives communications from various commercial import and export houses, and international concerns, requesting him to send men from the school to fill different positions. The latest to leave for foreign countries are:

Halleck A. Butts, who has been appointed United States Trade Commission at Tokyo. Japan. With him goes Martin G. Scott.

Alfred H. Ho has been appointed assistant to the commercial attaché in Mexico City.

D. K. Bergner sailed for China as the student interpreter in Peking.

C. C. Brooks is touring South America for the Ingersoll Watch Company.

Daniel O'Donnell has gone to Siberia on a special mission.

SOUTH AMERICA GREGGS G. U.

Information on Venezuela will be the first of a series of studies on Latin America to be issued by the university.

Dr. Ricones, whose hospitality was largely responsible for the success of the expedition, will visit America and Georgetown shortly.

The Foreign Service men did not limit their activities to commerce and trade relations, but are the proud possessors of a large silver loving cup presented to the championship baseball team of Venezuela by the Minister of Public Instruction, Dr. Ricones. The cup was won after a hard-fought series of three games, two against Venezuela teams and the other against an aggregation representing the Americans of the country. Georgetown won three straight games and as a consequence was awarded the championship of Venezuela.

The cup is now in the office of the Inter-American High Commission at the Treasury, where it will remain until it is placed in the new library which is to be opened at the School of Foreign Service.

Charles J. Murphy, professor in the Law School, died suddenly at his home in Providence, R. I., on July 4th. He graduated from law in 1891 and has been practicing in the District ever since. Holding the chairs of torts, wills, and negotiable instruments in the Law School for many years. Burial services were held in the Dalghen Chapel.

Dr. Patrick F. Kennedy, Dental '17, was married to Miss Marie Elizabeth O'Shea, of Fort Smith, Ark., on the 22nd of June.

SOLDIERS STAGE SHAM BATTLE

Airplanes, Tanks, Machine Guns Tend to Make Fiery Display.

Bellevue Wood and Verdun swept down on Varsity Field and the grounds of Georgetown for a brief moment Saturday when the R. O. T. C. unit, under command of Captain Hobson, staged a small battle with all of the latest equipment that the War Department could furnish. Airplanes swooped over the "field of battle," communicating with their forces by wireless telephones; machine guns barked defiance at the enemy. An armored tank aided the attack, while rifle and hand grenades, pigeon, signal, and pistol lights added to the display.

Captain Hobson's proteges showed the effect of the training under the capable officer, executing the different battle formations with the skill of veterans. Approximately one hundred men were engaged in the maneuvers.

A small admission price was charged and acting according to the R. O. T. C. policy of cooperating with other college activities, Captain Hobson donated half of the proceeds to the Athletic Association.

In an address to the student body, the commandant had high praise for the Georgetown men at the summer camp at Devens. Washington delegation ranked first in merit and rifle marksman ship.

The marriage of Raymond J. McMahon, Law '12, to Miss Irene Smith, of Providence, R. I., took place on the 2nd of last June.

Gus Bournéef, graduated from the College last year, is in Washington and will enter Law School.

THE HOYA

IT CAN BE DONE!

In a small college the question of unity is a negligible one but in a university, and especially in Georgetown, where the different departments are located in various parts of the city, the successful solution of the problem is one that should have the serious consideration of every one interested in a greater Georgetown.

There is no South, no North in the United States today, just one great country with the Texan and the Vermonter rivaling each other in friendship to the wish that it will not be washed backward with the driftwood, there can be no talk of Law School, no talk of College. The University can spare neither of its great departments, one’s loss is the loss of the other.

Georgetown there rests under. All the different school’s should have a common purpose, a spirit of comradeship, and the firm, glad handshake of friendship. The President of the Yard this year has made colossal strides in this direction by appointing as his advisers representatives from each of the different schools.

The HOYA submits an additional way for achieving unity. Let there be a “University Night” every month. One time this “gathering of the classes” can be held in the gymnasium at the Hilltop, again at the auditorium in the Law School. At each meeting every man in the University should make it a point to be present. Make the gatherings snappy, enthusiastic and lay aside the formality. Have entertainer to make us laugh, able speakers to make us think, music to make us sing and, above all, a fine spirit of friendship that will send care 2,000 men away talking, dreaming, and living Georgetown.

At one time let the charge of the different arrangements, the Medical School, the Law School, the School of Foreign Service, of Dentistry, and so on down the line. The President of the senior class at the Law School is a capable man; the representative they choose in the University should know. It is a question, however, if a score of men in the College, in the School of Medicine, and the other departments know him, even by sight, and it is safe to state that less than a hundred have ever heard him speak.

The number of law students who are acquainted with the president of the senior class of the College could be counted on the fingers of one hand. This sad condition of affairs is unnecessary and can be corrected.

For the “University Night,” we believe, offers the solution of an otherwise deplorable lack of unity. Last year, on the night before the Navy game, there were mass meetings at all the different schools. Each in its way could not be improved upon. The trouble was that there were three or four different gatherings, when one would have served the purpose 100 per cent more efficiently.

“Know thyself,” goes the old saying. A Georgetown man cannot pretend to know himself, a school of Georgetown cannot begin to call itself a part of the great University if it does not work in perfect harmony and good fellowship with every other department.

The President of the Yard, and the presidents of the senior classes of the different schools will have singularly failed in the administration of their offices if the end of the present collegiate year does not inaugurate the greatest era of cooperation at Georgetown. Mr. MacElhinny has started in the right direction. We know that Mr. Reid, president of the senior class of the College, is as capable and its members.

Let co-operation then be the password, and unity the goal, not only for men in official position but for each and every member of Georgetown. It can be done!

CAPTAIN HOBSON.

At the student body we were prepared to try to be politely attentive and let it go at that. The commandant of the R. O. T. C. and his talk on military science could not possibly interest us. Captain Hobson, however, proved an agreeable surprise. The commandant is enthusiastically interested in all that tends towards a better Georgetown, while a spirit of good fellowship, of earnest cooperation, and kind leadership marked his entire talk.

The benefits of military training need not be entered into here. That there are great benefits is known to everyone. The R. O. T. C., with such a progressive and enthusiastic and fine-spirited man as Captain Hobson, is worthy of the same consideration of every student.

The HOY from its knowledge of the man in command predicts a successful year for the military science classes. It also takes occasion to welcome Captain McCord, who is to act as second in command at Georgetown.

GEORGETOWN'S LOSS.

A more lamentable upset to football at Georgetown could not have happened than the illness during the summer of Captain Dudack, preventing him from participating in the gridiron contests this fall. Georgetown has lost a tower of strength on the line and a likeable leader. For he present Alec Anderson is acting as football leader and it would be no surprise to see the little center continue in that capacity after an election. Anderson, though almost in the bantam-weight class in avedupois, ranks high in the heavy-weight class when nerve, stamina, and fighting spirit are considered. In too, in his pivotal position at center, he occupies the best position on the team to act as leader. There could be many worse things done than electing Alec Anderson permanent captain and few better.

OLYMPIC CHAMPS!

It is a pleasure to welcome Jimmy Connolly, Georgetown's star miler, back to college after his triumphs abroad. Connolly was just as popular in Belgium, France, and England as he is in Georgetown. Articles in the Boston newspapers of the world. Mile. Agnes Souret, adjudged by popular vote the prettiest girl in France," owes her life, it is reported, to the quick wits and "Jim" Sweeney, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a member of the HOY staff last year and of the sophomore class. Sweeney caught the French beauty safely in his arms as she fell from the top of a Paris theatre in which she is acting.

At the Follies-Bergere in Paris Mile. Souret is the star attraction. Several weeks ago she was raised high over the audience in a basket the cable slipped and the basket plunged downward towards the balcony. In the front part of the balcony was sitting James Sweeney, a Georgetown University man and a delegate of the Knights of Columbus Lafayette-Metz expedition. Instantly he leaped forward, reached out nearly full length and caught Mile. Souret as she fell. The momentum nearly dragged him over the rail, but after swaying perilously a moment over a breathless audience he regained his position and carried the fainting beauty to her dressing room while the entire house rose to its feet cheering loudly the quick-witted and heroic American.

Although there were thousands of contestants in the recent French nationwide beauty contest, Mile. Souret won by more than 50,000 popular votes. She is a native of Biarritz, on the Spanish frontier; her mother being a Basque (same race as Marshal Foch) and her father a Breton. Her picture and the story of Sweeney's deed was printed in several American papers.

Mile. Souret's saviour is a 100 per cent American, but descended from ancestors of the same blood as the members of the famous 69th Regiment of New York. During the summer the monopoly of "front porch" campaigning around Flat-bush proved too much for him and he traveled with the Knights of Columbus to Europe.

be sold at the College store. The A. A. will receive 5 per cent of all purchases paid for with these coupons. At Bar-tholdi's this 5 per cent commission can be collected only if the check is paid before 6:30 o'clock.

The A. A. is also obtaining 10 per cent commission on all haberdashery sold by Sidney West in his display in the College store. The usual concerts of the musical clubs will be given during the winter. The A. A. is also handling the mimeographing and sale of the lectures for the Foreign Service School. It will also collect the two-dollar tennis dues. There will be bootblack service at the college, a bookbark visiting the living quarters of the students.

Along other lines Mr. MacElhinney also presents a constructive program of progress. When interviewed he laid special emphasis on his intention to see that the "Freshmen Rules" were strictly enforced. He has a number of plans regarding the Yard which he will present to the student body later in written form. Class songs will come in for their share of the attention, while interclass boxing, fencing, and soccer will be introduced.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS ARE PROMISING

First Game Saturday Will Show Quality of New Gridiron Material.

Fifty-five candidates for varsity football are working out daily under Head Coach Exendine and Assistant Coach O’Keily. With the first game with St. John’s of Annapolis day after tomorrow, the first string eleven, despite the intense heat, is fast rounding into shape.

While the line will be greatly weakened without Dudack, who is unable to play because of the effects of typhoid fever, Coach Exendine’s big problem is the development of a new backfield.

With the graduation of McQuade and Maloney last year, the team will be a bit inexperienced. However, King, star end at Van, regular wing man last year, will not return to Georgetown this year. King, star end at Van, regular wing man last year, will return to a regular backfield.

When the first call for cross-country runners is sent out early next month the track season will officially open. The board floor wizards will get under way right after Thanksgiving and from then on an extensive program will be followed out. The out-door season starts the end of April and a schedule as large as last year is promised.

Bill Goggin, formerly captain of football at St. John’s Prep., Danvers, Mass., is displaying speed. DOC. ROUECHE DIES FROM AUTO INJURIES

Popular Medical Student Meets Death at His Home in Erie, Pa.

William N. Roueche, a sophomore at the College last year, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, in Erie, Pa., September 7th, from injuries sustained in a collision with an interurban car on August 26th.

"Doc," as he was familiarly known at Georgetown, met the accident that resulted in his death while on his way home from the fair grounds of the Erie Exposition company, where he was employed during the summer. He was driving his machine and in turning out suddenly from a pile of dirt in the street ran directly into a Cleveland and Erie interurban car. He was thrown to the pavement and sustained a fractured skull. During all the time since consciousness, brother, Robert, and a sister, Madelin. Besides his parents, he is survived by one and Mrs. William N. Roueche. Besides the best possible lecturers, Fr. Walsh announces that Dr. Leo S. DR. SPELLISSY, FAMOUS GRADUATE SERIOUSLY HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

The Philadelphia Public Ledger of September 13, has the following on the death of Dr. Joseph M. Spellissy's wife and his own injuries. Dr. Spellissy is a noted Georgetown graduate.

Point Pleasant Beach, N. J., Sept. 12.

—Dr. Joseph M. Spellissy, famous orthopedic surgeon, of Philadelphia, is critically injured and his wife is dead, following a grade-crossing accident in which a Pennsylvania express train crashed into Doctor Spellissy's automobile at the Foreman avenue crossing of the New York and Long Branch Railroad today. Another woman who was riding in the machine escaped with injuries and his wife is dead, critically.
