GAHAN ELECTED
JOURNAL EDITOR

Succeeds Hudson Grunewald as Editor-in-Chief of College Literary Publication.

At a meeting of the staff of the Georgetown College Journal in the Publication Office last Thursday, Mr. Hudson C. Grunewald, editor-in-chief of the Journal, formally offered his resignation from the staff. The incompatibility of his duties with the heavy course he is following was stated as necessitating his decision. Mr. Grunewald's resignation was accepted by the Board of Editors, and it was voted that a resolution be prepared, regretting his departure from the staff, and expressing the appreciation of the editors for his excellent services in the capacity of editor-in-chief of the Journal.

At the suggestion of Mr. Grunewald, Mr. John W. Gahan, '23, was unanimously elected by the staff to succeed the retiring editor, and his election was approved by the faculty yesterday. Mr. Gahan is one of the most popular members of the Senior class and has attained prominence in numerous extra curricular activities. He is president of the Coach O'Reilly Drives Charges in Preparation for Early Games on Lengthy Schedule.

Coach John O'Reilly is putting his baseball candidates through some strenuous workouts these days in preparation for the opening games of the season, already only a little over a week away. The prospects for a fine season are very much in evidence, judging from the amount of material available for the different positions. About the only berth on the nine that a new man is likely to find is the short-stop position, left vacant by J. R. Murphy, who held the position last season.

Despite the loss of such valuable men as Kenyon and Reynolds, rated as one of the best college batteries in the country last season, the team will be exceptionally strong. "Big Jim" Cunningham is a likely looking prospect for the backstop honors. He is a veteran of three seasons, has much experience and is judged as the logical successor to Kenyon. The pitching staff will have as mainstays Jenkins and McCarthy, veterans of last year, who are bound to be heard from this season. Other pitching prospects are Jones and Taber, south-,

Blue and Gray Defeats Best Teams in Country, Making Exceptional Score, Guilfoyle Leading in Cup Competition With Score of 1280.

Coach Sergeant Michael A. Donahue's Georgetown University Rifle Team gained a triple honor last week. In its dual match with the University of Vermont the Blue and Gray gunners handily took their opponents into camp by a figure of 1917 out of a possible 2000. Not only did the local shooters was third with 3,873. About thirty-five colleges throughout the country competed.

Yale, which also had been tentatively scheduled for last week, will not be shot until next week. The Blue outfit recently defeated Cambridge University of England in a cable rifle match, 494 to

TWO MILE TEAM
DEFEATS YALE

Connolly Wins Ovation as He Finishes Closely Contested Relay in 6:03 4-5.

Georgetown's track team rang down the curtain on the most successful indoor season ever experienced by captur- ing the two-mile relay race over Yale University, Saturday night in Phila- delphia at the eleventh annual Meadowbrook games the four star half-milers broke the Meadowbrook record with the time of 8:03-4.

The race throughout was very closely and hotly contested. In the first relay "Alec" Brewer opposed Hilles of Yale. For two laps the Yale man led by a scant two yards, but "Alec" opened up in the final laps and by a series of sprints sent Brooks away with a three-yard lead.

Brooks forced Greeley, the Yale man, to trail him all along the route and handed over the same lead to Gegan. In the third relay Gegan put up a desperate fight against Van Der Pyle. The men changed positions several times, but the Yale man finished about five yards ahead.

Captain Connolly started down the boards five yards in front of the speedy "Mal" Douglas of Yale. The end of the fourth lap found them in about the same relative position, but then the fast flying Yale man, with a tremendous burst of speed, overhauled "Jimmy" and went into the lead. However, in the home stretch of the last lap Connolly put every ounce of his strength in a final spurt. It carried him across the line a winner, for he nipped the tape two feet ahead of his opponent.

The time of the race, 8:03:45, was a new record for the Meadowbrook games. The Redman Wanamaker Cup was the prize for the race and is now the latest addition to the large number of trophies won by the tracksters during their indoor season.

DR. KOBER IS GUEST OF HONOR

Dean of Medical School Lauded by University on Occasion of 50th Anniversary.

On Tuesday, March 6, Dr. George M. Kober, dean of the School of Medicine, celebrated the 50th anniversary of his graduation. Georgetown University Hos- pital was the scene of a brilliant recep- tion in honor of the eminent physician.

Dr. Kober was also the guest of Presi- dent and Faculty of the College in the Faculty reception that evening. He has been dean of the Medical Department for several years and has been most instru- mental in raising the school to its pres-
PLANS MADE FOR SENIOR WEEK-END

Graduating Classes of the Entire University to Hold Functions on May 3, 4, and 5.

At a meeting Sunday morning of representatives of the various departments of the University, plans were formulated for the Senior Week-end, which is to be held May 3rd, 4th, and 5th. This year’s function is an innovation in Georgetown social circles inasmuch as it will be the first time that the Seniors of the different schools have acted in concert for an affair of its kind.

It is planned to start the Week-end on Thursday, May 3rd, with an elaborate smoker. Prominent speakers will be engaged for the evening and probably representatives of the faculty will also talk. Ample entertainment will follow the speeches. The smoker will be followed on Friday evening, the 4th, by a Prom. The halls have not as yet been selected, but it is expected that definite plans will be made the latter part of this week.

Saturday has been set aside as a gala day when all the fraternities of the University will hold tea-dances and “open houses.” The committee hopes to confine their expenditures to as low a figure per man as possible so that a price which is within the reach of all can be had.

The following are the representatives of the various departments who attended the meeting: Philip Tague, College; Jerome Moore, Law School; Sylvester Roll, Foreign Service; W. H. Johannesen, Dental School; Peter Constantinople, Medical School, and Thomas Regan, J. F. C.

MERSCH VICTOR IN LAW PRIZE DEBATE

Junior and Senior Debating Societies Discuss Diplomatic Problem in Annual Affair.

On Monday evening, March 6th, the Third Prize Debate between the Junior and Senior Debating Societies was held at the Law School.

The question was: “Resolved, That the United States should inaugurate an international movement to adjust the conditions in the Ruhr District.”

The Junior Society was declared the winner of the question, and Victor Sylvester Mersch, ’23, Indiana, of the Senior Society, the best individual debater, with Henry Francis Quinn, ’24, Massachusetts, of the Junior Society, a close second.

Messrs. Jeffrey, Killess, Sullivan, and Fred Salom Rith, of the Senior and Junior Societies, respectively, were not far behind the winner, and each aided materially in the presentation of the views of their respective teams.

Mr. Veeder Russell Donaghy, ’29, Ohio, third; and Mr. Thos. J. Buckley, ’23, Iowa, served as chairman of the Reception Committee.

Musical selections were rendered by the Law School Orchestra, and Mr. E. Daly responded with several vocal numbers.

GEORGETOWN LISTS ELEVEN TENNIS TILTS

With the oncoming spring days, the Georgetown tennis team will soon be starting practice. Then tennis clinics will be called out next week to shape up for the coming season. Last year, with the aid of some fine material, Georgetown held its own in excellent shape on the lined court. Some of the veterans still remain, among them Paul Kunke and Jim Becker. The Kunkel brothers showed remarkable ability last season when they captured the double and single South Atlantic championships. The Law School shows promise of good court players, and much is expected of the downtown lads during the season.

Tom Mangan, one of the best racquet wielders in the District, will also take his place on the court and appear for Georgetown against some of the best teams in the East. The schedule:

March 27—Springfield.
April 13—Princeton.
April 18—Navy.
April 25—Johns Hopkins.
April 27—Swarthmore.
May 4—Rutgers.
May 9—George Washington.
May 10—Louisiana.
May 17—Lafayette.
May 18—North Carolina.
May 27—New York University.

LOUIS J. CASCARDO

Louis J. Cascardo, a Junior in the School of Medicine, passed away Sunday evening in the Georgetown University Hospital. He had been suffering for over two years from an illness to which he finally succumbed. Mr. Cascardo was a resident of West New York, New Jersey.

The Junior class attended the funeral services and accompanied the remains to the station. On Wednesday morning, in Dahlgren Chapel, the students of the Medical School attended Dr. Tondorf’s Mass for their deceased classmate.

Mr. Cascardo was well known and well liked by all in the Medical School. He was a graduate of New York University.

paw and right hander, respectively; Leighton, Hunt, Gillespie and others. The receiving department will have a force of reserve strength in Snell, King, Murtagh, Dufour, Cullen, Des Raimes and others.

Captain Sheedy will hold down his old place on the initial sack. Malley is sure to draw action on the keystone position, while Flavin is all set to take care of his job at the hot corner of the infield. The only open position at short is sure to furnish a lot of competition for the new men trying out for this berth. Among the likely looking candidates for this position are Armstrong, who has played that position for a number of years and is judged as one of the brightest prospects; Quinn, who starred with complete dependence for material on the editors. Finally the stimulation of interest attendant on the entrance of a new regime, is expected to raise the standard of the magazine generally. In anticipation of his program, Mr. Gahan wishes to bring the matter of contributing to the Journal again before the student body. The regrettable lack of interest in writing for the magazine, in the view of the editor, must be reme-4d in accordance with the suggestions expressed by Dean Tallon in Gaston Hall last Tuesday.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT WINS APPROVAL

Gaston Hall Crowded for Annual Function—Walsh, O'Leary and Morrissey Soloists.

Last Sunday evening one of the most successful Mi-Careme concerts held in recent years delighted the large audience which filled Gaston Hall to capacity. The Georgetown University Glee Club, assisted by the Georgetown Collegians, gave an entertainment of unusual merit, rendered in excellent fashion. Especially mention must be made of the soloists of the evening. Mr. O'Leary's remarkable baritone voice was well suited to his selections. The tone and polish of his work was most pleasing. Mr. Morrissey demonstrated that his voice is indeed a master of the cello. His selection, "Cello" marked his return to those who appreciate excellent playing.

ABILITY AND RESULTS.

Georgetown's rifle team gained countrywide recognition last week when the Hilltop marksmen after weeks of faithful and laborious work, were awarded the intercollegiate N. R. A. championship as the leading college rifle team of the country. Too much credit cannot be given this organization and its directors whose great perseverance has brought honor and credit to the university.

We have always had a marked degree of respect for the members of the rifle team, for in our opinion there is no extra-curriculum activity at Georgetown that requires so much personal sacrifice and inconvenience and concurrently has so little incentive as telescopic shooting. Away from the glamour of the spotlight, enveloped in the smoke of burning powder and undergoing like disadvantages in a sport that seems to lack any incentive, it requires much more than ordinary "stick-to-itiveness" to weather the storm.

"Jim" Cunningham, of the Senior Class, will resign the duties of captain and go into the regular army this summer. He has been devoting a great deal of time and energy to the winning of this championship and the knowledge gained from years of experience in this field was imparted to the riflemen with a clearness that has earned their respect.

When Blue and Gray historians are looking for the manner in which the marksmen trained day after day until late in the afternoon under the direction of Major Holson and the keen, experienced eye of Sergeant Donahue, they could only be rewarded by the highest possible honors. To these two men is due the thanks and appreciation of the entire student body.

When the work for this year was begun the coaches were confronted with the problem of developing latent material to order to maintain the standard of past years. But few veterans remained, and with the leading teams of the college world scheduled for dual and general competition, it required a stupendous amount of self-sacrifice and perseverance on the part of the leaders to cope with the problem. Needless to say Major Holson and Sergeant Donahue "worked wonders" with their charges, and the knowledge gained from years of experience in this field was imparted to the riflemen with a clearness that has unmistakably produced results.

When Blue and Gray historians are recording great deeds of the present era in the annals of Georgetown, the wonderful work of the riflemen will receive more than usual attention. For the phenomenal success of the organization in its short period of existence is a really great achievement. Still in its infancy the rifle team is the leading group of its kind in this country, and before the curtain is finally drawn on the year's activities at Georgetown we anticipate still greater success in the near future.

STEPPING STONES OF PROGRESS.

In a general survey of events that have happened and are being listed for the future at Georgetown University, one cannot help but conclude that progress is being accomplished at the present than ever before and that the future bids fair to outstrip the present great era.

We hasten to laud the efforts of the sponsors of the intercollegiate N. R. A. championship. Senior week-end for the members of the graduating classes to be held on May 3, 4, and 5 of this year. The move is right in keeping with the trend of things during the past year and lends further evidence of the enthusiasm which has been the purpose and aim of Georgetown sportsmen for many years. It has not been until the past year that any sustained efforts at co-operation and union in every affair of general University interest have been effected. The present school year has seen the growth of the new feeling, and it is one of the big factors in the life of the University today. The Doomsday Book which is to be issued this year in meeting with unprecedented success thus far, and the college and the town have cooperated on the plan augurs well for the long-sought spirit of oneness in activity at Georgetown.

The proposed week-end will be a big success from every angle, and that it will be a means of tightening the bonds between the schools.

Now that debating and music have enjoyed success in their reign at Georgetown, we hope that lovers of dramatics will find plenty of appetites on March 23 and March 24 when the Mask and Bauble Society will stage "The Merchant of Venice" in Gaston Hall. The amateur thespians have been devoting a great deal of time and energy in preparation for the production, and from present indications it will be one of the best productions seen on Hilltop in many years. Rev. Fr. Donovan, who has charge of the play, has been assiduous in his duties, and with the proper support the society should achieve fully as great favor as the Philodemonic Society and the Glee Club. Everyone is urged to co-operate in making the enterprise a success, and with the proper support it cannot fail to prosper.

In the sport world titles and laurels galore were won by Georgetown's trackmen, while in the world of literature the attention of the general sport-loving public was fixed on our "Kleptomaniac." Whether because of his excellent ability and sportsmanship. May he have fully merited time and energy to the successful production, and to everyone who assisted in the evening's entertainment.

We would like to urge the members of freshman class to take an active interest in their rapidly developing literary society. The training received in English during the two years of college will be of inestimable value later on in years to come.

The concert conducted by the Glee Club last Sunday evening in Gaston Hall was without question the best we have heard in our stay at Georgetown. Every number on the program was loudly applauded, and though the "Collegians" was the best number of the evening, the entire program was without fault. Great praise is due to Professor Donovan, who devoted much time and energy to the successful production, and to everyone who assisted in the evening's entertainment.

When Jimmy Connolly, Georgetown's champion college miler, set a new record for the mile in a special race two years ago, his world and intercollegiate record of 4:14.5-5, turned in his home track, and with the exception of Ray, Connolly is the only runner in the game today who has bettered this mark.

The record was later established by Mr. Home Fisher, a most capable performer. The New York boy is one of the best middle distance runners around, and the Blue and Gray seems to be pretty well fortified. Inter-class and inter-mural sports will embrace practically everyone on campus, for "Mazda." "The bulb snatcher" has been causing considerable consternation in North Building, for once again the staid old walls that housed Congress years ago, are illuminated by the Edison-made "Maza." FOUNDERS.

On the base of the statue of John Carroll on the campus of Georgetown in front of the main entrance of the University is inscribed the legend, "Priest, Prelate, Patriot." Taking these words in their fullest meaning, they are a succinct and noble summing up of John Carroll, the founder of Georgetown University. When the Society of Jesus, of which he was a member, was suppressed in 1773, Father Carroll was in Europe. He took immediate steps to return to his native country and arrived in the late spring of 1774.

Great events were stirring. American Independence was declared in 1776 and the Colonies arose in arms. Ten years after Father Carroll's return he was appointed Prefect Apostolic to the Church in this country, and in 1789 to the See of Baltimore as the first American Bishop. This was the beginning of the American Hierarchy, whose foundation in this country was generally recognized by the American clergy and laity as a seminary for future clergy. The necessity of founding a Catholic college reached completeness. The school was to be created "for the education of youth and perpetuity of the body of clergy in the country." Difficulties arose and opposition caused delay. These having been in time surmounted, it was very necessary to secure sufficient funds to begin. The first assistance came from the College of Propaganda at Rome. Propaganda voted an annual subsidy of 100 scudi for a period of three years, and on February 23, 1788, Cardinal Antonelli, the Cardinal Prefect, announced the gift to Father Carroll, who writes at that time, "to our establishment there will be three stories high exclusive of the offices under the whole. * * * On this academy is built all my hope of perpetuity of the body of clergy in America and in England for funds, the response to which was not immediate, but it was discussed informally. Between this time and the second general Chapter of the Clergy (1786) plans were made and a rather detailed scheme for its erection was formulated. A committee of five was appointed as directors of the school and subscriptions were opened. Colonel Deakins and Mr. Threuckald gave the land; several benefactors sent donations from England and some leading Catholic gentlemen in the United States made contributions. It was not, however, until Dr. Carroll appealed in person after his consecration to some English Catholic noblemen that the real endowment of the college began. It is worthy of notice that the list of benefactors included many of the former English Jesuits. Father Plowden's name is on the list for a very substantial sum (Gilday, Life and Times of John Carroll).

Such was the beginning of Georgetown College in the last decades of the eighteenth century. It has played a large part in the history of higher education in this country ever since, and now in the third decade of the twentieth century, after a notable career of over one hundred and thirty-three years, during which it has grown from the little academy on the Hilltop—Carroll's hope for a future of the Church in America—to a great University whose departments are scattered through Washington, it is making its first general appeal to its alumni and friends to help it to even greater things than it has yet achieved and which cannot be achieved without their assistance.

It is seeking a second foundation, the foundation of the Greater Georgetown, which will enable it to enlarge and develop those resources which lie latent in its wonderful possibilities for the future. Those who endow Georgetown now will be, in every proper sense of the word, second founders. Archbishop Carroll and his associates were founders of Georgetown one hundred and thirty-three years ago. Throughout all these years Georgetown has nobly and splendidly developed those resources which lie latent in the largest U. S. Government shoe stock of one of the Forty-piece Sport Suits

LAW SENIORS SELECT GRADUATION INSIGNA

Committee Appointed to Procure Class Rings—Carroll Law Club Meets.

The design having been selected, President Kane of the Senior class appointed Mr. A. S. Tingey, chairman of the committee to take care of the manufacture of the class rings. Those who will work with Mr. Tingey on this board are Messrs. Feeling, Malloy, Hadlich, and Coughlan.

At a recent meeting of the Carroll Law Club the members went on record as opposing the Ruhr invasion. The subject of the invasion was discussed with great heat from the floor and remained an open issue until a vote was proposed.

On the same occasion Messrs. Hughes, Dale, and Daley were admitted to the society.

The question for debate at the next meeting is, "Resolved, That the District of Columbia be given the status of a State." Messrs. Blake and Damsell will speak "pro and con."

NEW YORK ALUMNI HOLD BANQUET

Rector of University and College Orchestra Are Guests of New York Chapter.

The New York Society of Georgetown Alumni held their annual banquet at the Catholic Club in that city last Saturday evening. Rev. John B. Creedon, S. J., was the guest of honor. The dinner was one of the most successful ever given by any Alumni chapter. The numerous speeches reflected the enthusiasm of the former Hilltoppers.

One of the features of the night was the performance of the "Collegians." Georgetown's newest musical organization made a flying trip to the metropolis to play for the banquet. Their initial appearance was greeted with tremendous applause.

Among the plans discussed by the speakers was included the organization of a "Georgetown Club" in New York.

FRANK MALOY HEADS PROM COMMITTEE

Senior Prom to Be Held April 20 at Wardman Park Inn—Music by Meyer Davis.

A fitting apex to the social events of the year at the College will be the Annual Senior Prom, the date of which has been set for April 20th. Mr. Maloy, chairman of the Prom Committee, has announced that it will be held in the spacious ballroom of the Wardman Park Hotel, the scene of so many former successful Georgetown functions. The music will be furnished by the Meyer Davis Orchestra of Le Paradis fame and Mr. Davis himself will personally conduct. Details of the Prom have not yet been revealed, but many surprises are promised by the committee from the class whose Junior Prom last year was an event, never to be forgotten by those who attended it. The committee includes John W. Gahan, George M. Dee, Charles J. O'Byrne, John A. Romweber, J. Burke Walsh, and Frank Maloy, chairman. The tickets will be strictly limited and will be placed on sale immediately after the Easter vacation. The favors are expected to harmonize with the usual good taste of the class in such matters, and are promised to be nothing if not unique. The list of patrons and patronesses will be announced subsequent to the completion of necessary arrangements.

Dr. Kober is internationally known for his splendid work in hygiene and the prevention of tuberculosis. He was the first President of the American Medical Association.

“Best Paid Hard Work in the World”

I's the way a John HANCOCK salesman described his work. He is a college graduate and in five years has put himself at the very top of his business.

He never yet has called upon a prospect without a previous appointment. The best life insurance salesmen today work on that plan, making it a business of dignity, such as any worthy and ambitious college graduate can find satisfying to his mental needs, and highly remunerative as well.

The man above quoted is the John Hancock’s youngest general agent. This shows what college graduates of the right type can do in this business, how they can build up earning power and at the same time provide for an accumulated competence for the years to come.

Graduation is a vital period in your life and you are liable to hold to the business you start in. It would be well before making a definite decision to inquire into life insurance as a career. Address, “Agency Department.”
