UNION TO GIVE FOOTBALL HOP

Willard to Be Scene of Benefit on Night of Holy Cross Game.

An informal football dance under the auspices of the Georgetown Union will be given at the New Willard Hotel on November 4th, the night of the Georgetown-Holy Cross game. The proceeds are to be divided equally between the University Athletic Association and the Union, and it is expected that if the student body of the whole University loyally supports the undertaking, a substantial aid to both institutions will be accumulated.

The music is to be furnished by the Virginians, an orchestra that has made an enviable record through the country because of their presence at important functions in the East and the fact that they have made numerous records for the Victor Company that have met everywhere with universal acclaim. They need no introduction because they are the best that can be secured.

The committee in charge, headed by Mr. Emmett E. Doherty, has arranged that the affair be held in the newly decorated ballroom of the Willard that has been the scene of so many Georgetown functions in the past. The music will begin at 8:30 and continue until 12. Tickets will be on sale at all the schools of the university and may be bought at the College from Robert C. McCann or James H. Grasty. The Georgetown and Holy Cross football teams are to be the guests of the University and the committee wishes the Hoya to extend to the members of the visiting team an urgent request to be present.

FRESHMAN CLASS AT F. S. ELECT OFFICERS.

The freshmen at the Foreign Service School held their first class meeting Friday evening at the school to elect officers. After considerable discussion a committee was chosen, consisting of Cully Albright, Francis C. Smith and Orlando P. Simms, who have been instructed to arrange a social gathering in the near future. A smoker is already planned at the school to elect officers. After considerable discussion a committee was chosen, consisting of Cully Albright, Francis C. Smith and Orlando P. GEORGETOWN DEFEATS UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI 37-0 IN ONE-SIDED CONTEST

Intersectional Battle Proves Undisputed Superiority of Blue and Gray—Kenyon’s Charges Feature of Contest.

The strong Georgetown University football team encountered little difficulty in downing the University of Cincinnati eleven in a game played at American League Park last Saturday afternoon. The contest was replete with brilliant runs and spectacular plays. At only one time did the opponents threaten to score but their aspirations faded when Florence intercepted an attempted pass on the four-yard line.

The Red and Black outfit kicked off to Butler who carried the ball to the thirty-five-yard line. Byrne and Kenyon had little trouble in gaining a first down. On the next play Flavin’s ankle was injured and he had to be replaced by Adams. Kenyon then booted the ball to his opponents’ twenty-one-yard line. Another mishap occurred when King sustained a painful injury in his knee and had to be carried from the field. Snell took his place. Cincinnati, now in possession of the ball looked formidable. Going through for substantial gains on line

G. U. GLEE CLUB ORGANIZES FOR '22-'23

Promising Outlook for Musical Activities During Coming Year.

The Georgetown University Glee Club opened its season on last Tuesday with a good showing at the first meeting of the year. About twenty members of the upper classes reported to help make the coming year one of the best Georgetown ever witnessed. Elections were held in which Thomas W. Corbett was elected president. Plans were drawn up for the coming season and it was decided to accept some of the many invitations the club receives each year from clubs and organizations in Washington and the vicinity. Last season the Glee Club made a great success in demonstrating their vocal ability at a few of the city clubs, for which they received a great deal of credit for their work. There is hope of raising the standard in the club to such a point that a trip to New York may be undertaken so that the Hilltop students may show their ability in the vocal art as well as on the athletic field.

The annual concert given each year for the benefit of the Athletic Association is expected to be this year one of the most successful in the annals of the University. Last year's concert was a demonstration of musical ability attained after much hard work and practice; it not only proved to be an individual benefit to the men themselves but also a financial success as well. This year seems more promising than any previous one and without doubt will surpass that of former seasons. The members of the club are very fortunate in having with them such an able leader as Mr. Donavan, under whose hand there seems nothing but success. In addressing the members, Mr. Donavan pointed out the enthusiastic spirit and desire of the club as a body, and stated this to be the blazed trail to united co-operation and hence success. The Glee Club is an organization which is not restricted, any man may enter, and will be given all the encouragement that can be afforded by the director and the members. Freshmen are urged to participate, there being no class distinction, and an excellent opportunity is open for those who wish to take advantage of it.

SOCIETY ORGANIZED
Charitable Organization to Devote Year to Settlement Work in Washington.

On last Thursday, October 12th, the Georgetown College Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society held its first meeting of the year in the senior class-room. The reorganization of the society for the ensuing year was effected by the election of officers and a general discussion by the members of the various charitable activities to be undertaken by the members in the course of the year. The meeting was formally opened by the Rev. Thomas J. Gasson, S. J., the director, who reviewed briefly the meritorious work in the past of the society and outlined its future possibilities. The election of officers followed, in which the presidency was given unanimously to Mr. James Uttridge of the Senior Class. Mr. Vincent Murphy, '24, was elected vice-president; Mr. John W. Galan, '23, secretary, and Mr. Louis B. Laplace, '24, treasurer. In accepting the chair the new president congratulated the members of the society on their present enthusiasm which he exhorted them to retain, and called upon Father Gasson for suggestions as to the scope and character of the work to be undertaken during the year. According to the director, first of all, an increased membership and activity among the student body should be encouraged. Membership in the society will include two classes, those who are willing to help the society financially, and those who will devote some of their spare time to carrying on its activities. Both the President of the University, Rev. John B. Creeden, S. J., and Rev. Vincent S. McDonough, S. J., Prefect of Discipline, are enthusiastic concerning the proposed co-operation with the Christ Child Society in carrying on settlement work besides its usual efforts towards the relief of the poor in the neighborhood of the College. This would mean that the members visit the various settlement houses around Washington, and perhaps the reform school or prison, which work should appeal strongly to any students at all charitably inclined. The St. Vincent de Paul Society was organized at Georgetown thirty-three years ago and since then has not only been an honor to the College and a help to the needy whom it has assisted, but it has instilled in all its members an idea of charity and usefulness that always remains a satisfaction and a strength of character to them in after life.

World war veterans at the Foreign Service School have formed the newest students' organization in the Georgetown University Foreign Service post of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Some forty members have already been enrolled, and the post will commence its activities at once. Julian Schuster, who is a vice-commander of the national organization, is commander. The other officers are, Livingston Latham, adjutant; John Wright, treasurer, and John C. Smith, chaplain. The plan of the organization is to hold bi-monthly meetings of a business and social character in furtherance of the effort to help wounded or disabled veterans.

Professor John H. Latane, lecturer in the course of American Diplomacy in the Foreign Service Department, and Dean of Johns Hopkins University, has gone to South America on a special mission for the government. Pending his return, the course in Diplomacy will be omitted from the third-year curriculum. Dr. William S. Culbertson, lecturer on Commercial Policies and Treaties, is also temporarily absent on a speaking tour of the West in the interest of the new tariff law.

BURNING BRIDGES.

During the past week we were treated to an exhibition of boyish exuberance on the part of college men that smacked of high school days and left the very dis- gusting thought in our mind that there are a few of us who have failed to burn the bridges of our Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn past. It was indeed very well known that we shall never again who sport the mantle of the college man lack the dignity and self-respect that is the rule of his conduct.

For the convenience of the entire student body a blackboard was placed in the college store next to the telephone booths to record calls for students and simplify the matter of communication be- tween them and the outside world. This step was made to fill a long-felt want and it was thought that much good could be accomplished when it was first contemplat- ed. But it seems that the boyish ele- ment found the blackboard a very delight- ful playing for their meadlings. Such treatment of something that has been es- tablished for their own good does not speak well for the intelligence or the com- petition of the college men. This is a minor matter. A more serious offense was perpetrated in Ryan Hall last Mon- day noon when a very flagrant breach of gentlemanly decorum was committed by a few who might well be classed in Horace’s “proflanum vulgus.” This affair was anything but commendatory and all who took part in it should feel ashamed with their unseemly discourtesy.

Naturally we do not like to speak of these matters in our editorial columns. We feel, however, that such actions as we have mentioned should not go by un- noticed. It is our policy to impugn and censure whenever warranted and cer- tainly no gentleman can help but look with jaundiced eyes on these actions. We have no doubt that the majority of the college body is in accord with these sen- timents, that they took no part in the aforementioned matters and that they look askance on such demeanaus. It is our sincere hope that we shall never again have to speak on a topic of this kind. Far easier, and much more pleasant, is it to extol than to disparage, and let us hope that the few who deserve criticism do not take a more lucida- torey course in the future.

A GOOD START.

The freshly formed Georgetown Pub- licy Bureau got away to a very good start last week under the direction of Mr. John L. Quinlan when the results of their first work were evident in the col- umns of the New York Sunday papers. It was the first time in recent years that Georgetown came in for an equal share of the publicity given to intercollegiate activities in the pages of the metropoli- tan editions.

Another Forward Step.

The formation of a University Activity Committee composed of representatives of every department of the University, the interfraternity council at the Law School and the General Union, which is now in the process of making is another forward step towards harmony and union between the various departments of the University. This method is in reality bringing about one of the great- est needs of the University today.

The present committee the considera- tion of which is now in the hands of the Rector has for its purpose athletics and other activities at Georgetown and under the plan universal sup- port from every student of the Univer- sity will be effected.

The first unofficial endeavors of this committee brought about a harmony of spirit in cheering at Saturday’s game that was most gratifying. When the new committee is officially set up as the Rector, as it most surely will be, one of the first projects it will have to deal with is the University football hop which is to be held at the Willard Hotel the night of the game against the Holy Cross. The proceeds will be turned over to the Ath- letic Association and part will be used for the advancement of other activities in the various departments of the Uni- versity.

The new plan of a University Activity Committee is probably the most progres- sive step ever made towards bringing about union and is deserving of the en- dorsement of everyone connected with the University. It should do much good in the future and we are confident that it will prove one of the greatest powers for union ever formulated for this purpose.

FINALE OF FINALE HOPPER.

The “nics,” soft-spoken girl is fleeing from the world. After a pleasing and withal charming season she has fallen into a cruel intrusion. Her existence has become uncertain, her dainty sil- houette blurred, and her character less al- luring to the “jazz-me-kid” generation. She sits now looking through the portal of her formerly bright and gay ball room. Society cooled with the spark- ling punch of the tea-dance, are giggling away the day noon when a very flagrant breach of discipline found the blackboard a very delight- ful hopper, and let her be considered a minor matter. No new members were proposed at this meeting.

PUBLICITY BUREAU
STAFF NAMED

Men Who Are to Assist in Broadcasting News of University Chosen.

The personnel of the Publicity Bureau has been announced. Already the members of this organization have begun their task of blazing the name of Georgetown throughout the entire year. This means that Georgetown will enjoy unprecedented publicity that will make more certain her standing among the leading Eastern colleges.

The following candidates were elected as new members of the Gaston Debating Society Monday evening, October 9th: David Tavlin, Joseph Flannery, Richard Homan and John Kelly. President Joseph Brennan presided in the chair. The debate for the evening was postponed and adoption of the following question was assigned for deliberation at the next meeting, Monday, October 23rd: Resolved, "That presupposing the futurity and noxiousness of the eighteenth amendment relief is to be found rather in a return to the former mode of state management than in any act of the Federal government permitting the sale of beer and light wines." Messrs. Frederick McManus and Joseph Flannery will uphold the negative side of this question in opposition to Robert Hichcock and David Tavlin for the affirmative.

Gaston.

The subject for discussion is optional. The following were elected secretary to succeed Theodore Driscoll, who has left Georgetown. No new members were voted in at this meeting, but it was decided to devote the next meeting exclusively to the trials for new members. BAND TO BE FORMED
BY R. O. T. C.

Military Unit to Have 30-Piece Organization—Expect to Be Ready About Dec. 1.

A new organization is to function at Georgetown. A long-wait felt will be satisfied with the organization of a thirty-piece band under the auspices of the R. O. T. C. Since the first mention of the project by Maj. Holson at the formal opening of the R. O. T. C. the interest manifested by the student body was very gratifying and the number of applicants has already mounted to forty. It is understood that the membership is to be drawn as far as possible from the military unit. However, just consideration will be given to applicants who are not members of that organization. The instruments for the band, furnished by the government, are now being received at the school and are to be used during the football season.

Men of Georgetown with spirits bold, Don't wear that ugly frown, Haven't you heard it often told— "Say—get back there to the blimp!"

And so its up and up and up, And rode the topmost story. Our ponderous brains have gotten lame. With slowing limbs we walk the halls, Where the cots wait row on row. And partake of its glory, Don't wear that ugly frown. Everyone must go through it, Where the cots wait row on row. "You can't keep a good man down!"

The Cuban's Corner

Up in Collier Dormitory Where the Seniors deck and gull Is a place reformatory On the top floor—always full.

Where wait the hard cots row on row, With eager, smiling faces To see unnumbered columns flow With dreary slowing paces.

Great streams unending of culprits Condemned up there to slumber Everyone must go through it And sleep thus with the humber.

With looks appealing in their eyes, They gaze at one another, And now and then between hard sighs, They faintly cry for "mother."

Oh me, Oh my, Alas, Alack, Give us not this cruel lot, Pray, let us to our rooms go back, Where mattresses are soft.

We cannot stand the high life here; The atmosphere is thinner, The climb is high and think for fear, The long way to our dinner.

When the night birds shrilly call, In our rooms we'd like to dream; But no! It's time for study hall College days aren't what they seem.

When we came here from home towns, 'Ne'er we dream'd we'd end like this; We thought we'd dance to caps and gowns And pass our days in bliss.

We wished to write the farthest star, And partake of its glory, But we were given quite a jar, And rode the topmost story.

Dull minds for knowledge eager Long days ago we came, Now our thirst is very meager, Our ponderous brains have gotten lame.

KUNKEL WINNER OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Runner-up of Last Year Defeats Becker in Finals, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

Paul C. Kunkel, '24, defeated James S. Becker, '24, in the final round of the tennis tournament Sunday morning by the score of 6-1, 6-4, 6-1. Both the victor and the runner-up showed fine form and displayed an excellent quality of tennis. From the time the first ball was served until the final point was checked up it was a hard-fought battle. The tournament is thought to have greatly stimulated interest in tennis and many new potentials were discovered which assures a bright future in tennis at the Hilltop.

DEBATING TRY-OUT ON WEDNESDAY, OCT. 18.

The outlook for the 1922-1923 debating season is very good for White. The enthusiasm so manifest last year speaks well for a successful year as a large quota of last year's society is back. These men, together with the new men who have signified their intention of going out for the team, should certainly bring the victor's laurel to White.

Try-outs for the White Society were held Wednesday, Oct. 18, 7:15 P. M. in the Philademic Hall. Some thirty-five applicants appeared before the society and from their number were chosen those who delivered the best speeches.

THE HOYA
With Lebanon Valley and the University of Cincinnati games out of the way, Coach Albert A. Exendine is drilling his men for the battle with Frank Gargato's Fordham eleven which will be staged at the Polo Grounds on Columbus Day, 97-0. In the Rutgers game the Fordham eleven displayed a very capable brand of football and their uphill fight earned them a victory in the eyes of New York sporting critics. In recent years Georgetown has experienced much difficulty with the New Yorkers, and although the Hilltopers will be the favorites a hard battle is looked for.

A great punting duel between Jack Flavin, the Hilltop kicking ace, and Tommy Meyers, of Fordham, is anticipated. Flavin at present is on the injured list. In last Saturday's contest the Georgetown punter back suffered an injury to his ankle that made further play almost impossible. He returned to the team the next day after the game, but since then Coach Exendine has been resting him up for Saturday. Kenyon lost no time in plugging left and Malley balanced the right.

In the Cincinnati game the work of the Hilltop backfield was as good as any but the strength of the Blue and Gray was two great line punchers and in Flavin and Malley the Blue and Gray have a duo of sterling end runners. Malley's toe was also in evidence and his drop-kicking should help the scoring column a great deal.

Frank King and Tom McNamara, who were both injured in Saturday's game, are slowly recovering. King suffered a severe knee wrench that will most likely keep him out of the game against the Blue and Gray. Coach Exendine will call upon either Eddie Snell or Andrew Zazzalli if King is not in condition for Saturday. Kenyon will either of these two are efficient men for the berth. Scrimmage with the second varsity team which is being coached by John D. O'Reilly was in order yesterday afternoon and the varsity displayed unbroken spirit.

Freshmen Play Staunton Military.

Coach "Jackie" Maloney's freshman team which is the first official yearling eleven in the history of Georgetown athletics, will meet the varsity today. The new one-year rule at Georgetown does not permit the freshmen in their recent scrimmages have shown a very practical knowledge of the Exendine system which is being imparted to them by Coach Maloney, former Hilltop quarterback and kicking star. The game with Staunton Military Academy on November 11th at Staunton, Va., is the big objective of the freshman eleven.

Quanto Marines Scheduled.

For the open date on the Georgetown schedule, October 28, which was caused by the cancellation of the Emory and Henry contest, the Hilltop football manager, Mr. Charles J. Coniff, has secured the strong Quanto Marines team. This aggregation is much on the same plan as the Army and Navy, for the Marines' team is composed of men who are enrolled in the officers' school and most of whom have played on college elevens before. Prominent among those on its roster are Larsen, former captain of the Navy, and Liversidge, of California, who was a member of the Olympic team that gained world's honors in 1920. The Marines, who are undecked to date, have one of the strongest elevens in this section of the country. They will be the open team at the Election Day contest at the Franklin Field stadium at the University of Pennsylvania, meeting the Penn elevens on November 7th. The battle with the Marines should be one of the best of the season in Washington. Much interest is being manifested by both the Washington in the coming battle, for Secretary of the Navy Dunny and Marine Commander Gen. Butler are to be the guests of honor and 3,500 gaily bedecked "devil dogs" are to be on hand to root for their representatives.

Fall Track Meet.

Georgetown will stage its first track meet of the year on Wednesday afternoon, November 1st, when all who are interested in track athletes will compete in the annual fall competition. A complete program of events has been arranged and everyone in the University is urged to take part. Coach John D. O'Reilly has been hard at work during the past few weeks in looking after the boys, and in open-midfield, who reported for the first practice and "the Silver Fox" is very optimistic over the outlook. Besides the letter men of last year's team, which was one of the best in the collegiate grade, the Hilltop mentor has a host of candidates from the new men at the University several of whom possess enviable records from their prep school career. Captain Connolly, intercollegiate mile champion in 1921, has fully recovered from a recent operation for tonsilitis and is working out daily with the large squad.

Kunkel Tennis Champion.

Paul Kunkel, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who with his brother Ray of last year's graduating class captured the Middle Atlantic doubles championship last spring, came through a winner as expected in the fall tournament at the University of Pennsylvania. Georgetown recently. He displayed excellent form in winning the college championship and the expectations of all who have been his singles champion of the Middle Atlantic conference this year. Charles Johnson, of New York, who was also a member last year's tennis team, also flashed signs of his old-time form in-finishing well up with the leaders.

ley tood the ball between the uprights for the try for point.

Coach Exendine's men shortly after receiving the kick-off punt to midfield, where they held the Buckeye State gridders and forced them to resort to some tiring kicking. At that point "Pauly" Byrne smashed through his opponents' line for several gains. This was followed by a dazzling end run for thirty yards by Kenyon, but the ball was recovered by the local team. As a result the local team displayed a great deal of "pep" out of the lighter visitors. Malley scored the try for point.

A couple of plays after the Queen City boys received Kenyon's beautiful kick-off, Prather was ordered off the field for slugging. Lubin was given the right wing assignment, and Captain Comstock in sportmanlike fashion refused the half-the-distance-to-goal penalty.

The visitors were helpless in their attempts to penetrate the Capital college boys' line and on an essayed double pass Malley punctuated it by putting the pigskin at an angle from which Malley dropped it over.

The death of William B. Edwards will come as a severe blow to his old friends and classmates. Mr. Edwards was born in Bridgeport, Conn., on March 20th, 1886. He attended Georgetown between '80 and '82. After leaving school he returned to his home in San Francisco, Calif., where he was later appointed as draughtsman on the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey Dept. Later, as draughtsman aboard the U. S. S. "McArthur," he was very talented in mathematics and drawing, and his charts are said to be some of the most perfect received in Washington. When the gold rush began he set out for Alaska, and was, in fact, one of the first to go. He piloted for some time on the Yukon river. His drawing of a chart of the sounding of the river is said to be a masterpiece of its kind. His search for adventure carried him all over Alaska where he hunted seal and other animals. He went in for scientific farming in the Sacramento Valley, California, but his health failed him in 1919 and he was forced to leave there for New Orleans, where he died of a stroke on April 28th, 1921.

Joseph D. Brady, L. L. B. '20, has recently been appointed to the important position of assistant commerce counsel of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, with headquarters at New Haven, Conn. Former professors and classmates of Mr. Brady will certainly not be in the least surprised of his brilliant advance, as he was always a leader in studies and in other affairs of the school.

The publishers assure Mr. Sullivan that his book will soon be used in every law school of the country.

GEORGETOWN JOURNAL
SOON TO APPEAR

College Literary Publication to Contain Many Interesting Features in First Issue.

Within a week the first issue of the Georgetown College Journal for this year will make its appearance. The new staff guiding the destinies of the Journal consists of the following: Editor-in-Chief, Hudson Grunewald, '23; Literary Editor, Bernard Wagner, '24; Contributing Editors, Louis Boisliniere '23, Donovan J. McCune '24, Alumni Editor, Baron Fredericks '24; Business Manager, Louis Slattery '24; Advertising Manager, James Costello '25.

An excellent number is promised for October. There will be an essay by Donovan McCune on "An Eye for Beauty," and another on the Einstein theory. Louis La Place contributes a short story, the title of which has not been divulged. Bernard Wagner contributes two excellent bits of verse, "William Blake Walks the Sussex Countryside," and "Song to Be Sung with a Melodeon." Mr. Wagner's verse is a feature of the Journal.

Editorials will be stressed this year, as it is said "Editorials have been dull enough in the past, it is time they caper." Two of the editorials appearing in the October number will be "The Endowment Fund," by Hudson Grunewald, and "A Warning," by Bernard Wagner.

In addition, the forthcoming number will inaugurate an entirely new department, a column of satire called "Under the Tum Tum Tree." It is expected that this column will be conducted by a different person for each issue. It will certainly prove to be an interesting and novel feature.

Taken all in all, the coming issue will be well worth waiting for, and the future prospects for the Journal seem extremely bright.

Interest in the Journal and things literary is on the increase, and in this connection an important announcement is made. A contest, conducted by the Journal, is now under way for the best short story and the best essay to be written by an undergraduate. A prize of five dollars will be awarded for the winning story, and the same for the winning essay. The judges will be the moderator of the Journal, Mr. Waldron, and two other Faculty members, to be selected later. All manuscripts must be handed in to 27 Collier by the 5th of November, as the contest closes at that time. Manuscripts should be signed with a pseudonym, and handed in together with a sealed envelope containing both the pseudonym and the author's own name. This contest will rouse the literary talent of the College, and develop something worth while in literary achievement.
