WALSH AND BOGART AT CONVENTION

Georgetown Represented at the National Foreign Trade Gathering in San Francisco.

JUNIORS ELECT FOR NEXT YEAR

Regent and Dr. Bogart Read Papers on Economics and Commercial History.

The recent foreign trade convention gave a separate session to the discussion of economics and commercial history, the development of our commerce in other countries. The chief speakers at the session were Dr. Ernest Bogart, of the State Department, who is a professor at the Foreign Service School, and Rev. Edmund Walsh, the Regent.

Mr. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and head of the Georgetown Foreign Service Endowment Fund. Mr. Farrell stated before the convention opened that this assembly would probably be the most momentous event in the commercial world during the past decade, because of the number and importance of the questions to be discussed and decided.

Mr. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and head of the Georgetown Foreign Service Endowment Fund. Mr. Farrell stated before the convention opened that this assembly would probably be the most momentous event in the commercial world during the past decade, because of the number and importance of the questions to be discussed and decided. Over 2,500 people attended, including the most representative men of the industrial and manufacturing world, together with delegates from leading banking and export firms of the country, and from those few Universities which have established departments of Foreign Service.

The first day was given over to two general sessions in which the fundamentals of foreign trade and foreign credits were taken up. The convention then split up into several smaller groups, each of which took up one phase of the work planned and thrashed out problems of education, advertising, credits and the like.

JACOBS WINS MEDAL

Senior First in Annual Oratorical Contest.

The Garvan oratorical medal was awarded to John J. Jacobs of Montana in the annual contest held in Gaston Hall Sunday evening, May 30. This contest marked the final competition of the year in public speaking and was open to the members of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes. There were five participants and all desire high commendation for grace in delivery and excellence in composition.

The winner of the contest, John Jacobs, who is a junior in the senior class, Joseph A. McDonough, '22, on "Military Training"; John S. McCann, '22, on "In Defense of the American Constitution"; Chas. A. Williams, '21, on "Capital and Labor," and Paul D. Page took as the subject of his speech "The Alamo." The judges were the Rev. Henry L. Lear, the Rev. Henry L. Shandelle and Mr. Avila Favreau.

The Garvan oratorical medal was first awarded in 1913 and was founded by Mr. John S. Garvan of Hartford, Conn., who was a student at the college in the early nineties.

SOPHS ON TOP IN TANK EVENTS

Class of '22 Wins Relay Race and Water Polo Game.

The Sophomores carried the postponed events of the swimming meet Sunday morning by winning the relay and the water-polo game. The Sophs took the 220-yard swim.

Mr. Walsh was the hero of the relay. Met Smeach, the juniors' opening man, walked away from Malone and the sophomores' representatives of '22 and '23, and handed a good lead to Fuller Morgan. Walsh tore through the water in pretty form and not only overtook but passed Morgan, and after that the Sophs were never headed. In the third lap McDonough held the lead, and Harrington, '23, gained a few feet on Gross, who was pretty poor under water through the last lap. McDonnell, '23, finishing ten feet behind Smith, '22, and Etzel, '21, was third by fifteen feet.

Seven entries appeared for the 220, and for the first two laps they held a better line than ever appeared on the drill ground. Then Ed Smith began to draw away, and on the field stroked out. Etzel dropped out on the third lap. In the fifth Etzel challenged Smith's lead, and began to draw up. Smith responded, and the last lap was a tight struggle between these two. Etzel had the pep for a final sprint, and took the race.

The polo game between a Sophomore team and one representing the class as a whole was exciting and a lot of comedy. The Sophs were led by Mr. McDonough, however, was Addie Baker. He did some fast goal-keeping work in the second half, and it was almost ignorance of the rules. It was almost a ducking match, and no one bothered much about the ball. The teams were: E. Butler, Etzel, Bolger. Substitutions—E. Smith for Pringle.
FORDHAM BREAKS WINNING STREAK

Georgetown Drops its Final Game to the New Yorkers, 5-2.

Georgetown's winning streak was broken in the last game of the season. Fordham smashed the spleen of the Hoyas by taking the Blue and Gray aces over by a 5-2 count on the Fordham University diamond last Saturday. The home lads journeyed to New York to meet the defenders of the Maroon for the second time this season with the intention of making it eighteen straight victories, but were unable to strike their customary stride.

The Hilltop aggregation racked up the pair of tallies in the seventh session of the contest. Dudick led off with a single and went to second when Walters handed out his first base on balls to Walsh. Dudick then made good his lead to third. Cousineau pegged wild to second as Walsh started down the line. John never stopped, but came on home behind Bill, while Finney was fumbling Cousineau's throw in center field. There were the only two runners out of the ten the Hilltoppers got on that managed to score.

The Bronx collegians worked each of their five hits into runs. One of their counts came across in the first period of the affair. Halloran doubled and scored on Finney's single. Then for four innings they went scoreless. In the sixth inning Buckley best out an infield hit, stole second and made a run on a safe bunt by Leftover. Leftovers crossed the plate just ahead of Cousineau, who made a circuit drive. The final count was made in the eighth.

Lorigshak was behind the bat in place of Kenyon. He did well for his first full game of the season, but even at that Bill was sorely missed in the line-up. Kenyon was just beginning to send the ball for long rides through the ozone, and he is the only person who handles Artie's fast ones in the best of form.

Walters and Reynolds each did well on the s'b. Each twirler allowed the same number of hits, but the former had two more strike-outs to his credit.

MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR BACCALAUREATE MASS

On Sunday at 10:30, the Baccalaureate Mass for the Commencement Week will be held in "The Walks." The musical program will be in charge of Mr. Edward P. Donovan, Jr., organist at St. Paul's Church, Washington, who is a noted local musician, since no one viewing the volume is likely to arrive at the conclusion that its editing was drudgery.

For a more nicely balanced piece of work, and one that displays a more intimate attention to detail, one would have to go a long way to find the superior of this year book. It is particularly gratifying to note that all the departments of the University are more than incorporated within the covers of a single book, a further indication of the tendency toward unity that has been manifested more and more this year.

A great deal of water has flowed under a great many bridges since we ourselves had the honor of editing a year book. But we trust that we have not entirely forgotten the stern demands that a book of this sort makes upon the shoulders of those connected with the undertaking. If we weren't suffering with one or two of those occasional sleepless nights, for which the Volstead Act has denied us the larger portion, we would probably sing a paean of praise for the young editor and his assistants who are responsible for the 1920 Domjesday Booke.

As it is, we can only say that the volume is what it is, which is all that it should be.

YE DOMESDAY BOOKE.

They presented us with a copy of Ye Domjesday Booke the other day, and we looked it over and found it good. Certainly it is a credit to the University as well as to the men who took upon themselves the tasks of editing and financing the volume. We have no hesitancy in saying that the 1920 Domesday Booke will take a high place among year books the country over.

The book reveals the care that was taken to produce it in a satisfactory manner. A vast amount of painstaking labor has gone into its makeup. No doubt this labor was largely a labor of love. But this detracts not one whit from the merit of the work, for it is the only one of its kind that can claim to be the artistic work of a literary society.

On the 12th of June, the marriage of Dr. William Parker, chief justice of the high court of the United States, and Miss Alice Tienken, of New York, is announced to take place in St. John's Church, Washington. The bridegroom is a native of Virginia and has been associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States for more than a quarter of a century. The marriage will take place at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Tienken, residents of New York.

The marriage of Miss Catherine McDonald, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald of New York, and Mr. Edward O'Malley, of Georgetown, was held at the church of St. John the Baptist, Washington, on the 12th of June. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Michael McDonald, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father J. M. Barry, of St. John the Baptist's Church, Washington.
The graduate of today enters a world electrical.
Gathered from the distant waterfalls or generated by the steam turbine, electric power is transmitted to the busiest city or smallest country place.

Through the co-ordination of inventive genius with engineering and manufacturing resources, the General Electric Company has fostered and developed to a high state of perfection these and numerous other applications.

And so electricity, scarcely older than the graduate of today, appears in a practical, well-developed service on every hand.

Recognize its power, study its applications to your life’s work, and utilize it to the utmost for the benefit of all mankind.

SEVENTEEN STRAIGHT FOR HILLTOPPERS

Princeton Was the Victim in a Game Filled with Thrills.

The Hilltoppers’ seventeenth consecutive game was put on ice when the Blue and Gray diamond experts handed the Princeton Tigers the short end of a 6-to-5 score on the Princeton University field last Wednesday afternoon. The game was one of the most spectacular contests staged on any collegiate ball field this season.

When the Tigers picked up the stick for the last time in the ninth session of the game the score sheet read, Georgetown, 6; Princeton, 5. The Jerseys came to the plate with the intention of turning the tables, and for a short time it looked as though things might swing their way. Cook, the first man up, was hit by a pitched ball. Strubing got a single, but Lee grounded out. Trimble drew first when he was hit by one of Artie’s fast ones. There were now three men on, one cut and McNamara, clean-up man, at the bat. McNamara hit into a double play when he grounded to Reynolds, who tossed the ball to Longshak, who in turn pegged to Harry Sullivan at first base. Thus ended a victory for Georgetown which for a few minutes looked somewhat doubtful.

The boys from the Hilltop began to pave their way to victory when Dudack came across for the first tally of the game in the second inning. Harry Sullivan put down the second run when he walked over the home plate after Bill Kenyon pounded out a long drive. Bill was caught as he slid home on what was just a few inches short of a four-bagger. In the sixth their quota of half a dozen runs was completed when Jimmie Sullivan, Bill Kenyon, Sam Hyraan and Jackie Maloney came home as the result of triples by Sam and Jackie.

The Tigers made their counts in their half of the sixth and seventh innings. They bunched hits in such a manner in the sixth that four runners scored. Their final tally was made by Margetts, who got around the diamond after a walk in the seventh.

Bill Kenyon was forced to withdraw from the game in the sixth inning when he had his hand split by a foul tip.
