WHelan Selected as Best Advocate in Final Argument

Mr. Charles Marion Whelan, S.J., D. C. '54, was adjudged the "best advocate of the school year" in the final Law Club Argument held on April 28.

The question decided by the 87th time for the two teams, the II Full Double, was to decide the limits of cross-examination set by the court. During the second trial, for which two alternate jurors had been sworn, the Court again discharged the jury before verdict over the objection of the defendant, because the defense counsel exceeded the time limit by six minutes.

The well attended debate was heard before a Court consisting of Chief Judge Bolitha J. Law '15, Judge Walter M. Bastian '15 and Judge Edward M. Curran of the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

The winning team representing the appellant was composed of Whelan and Rex Alan Jennewein, S.J. '51. Jennewein was selected as second best advocate.

The team representing the appellee consisted of Charles P. Scull, D. C. '54 and Stephen E. Carr, N. Y. '54, who were elected to the presidency and vice-president by a wide majority. Francis X. Doyle, Mass '54 was named to the Traveller's post and Peter Arban, D. C. '55 was elected Secretary.

PHI ALPHA DELTA FRATERNITY
Two of the best ways to enter the law field are to work in a district attorney's office or for a congressional committee.

This was the advice given by William E. Gehl, past President of the Georgetown College, and Jay George Washington University) and Jay (George Washington University) Chapters of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity held April 11 in Washington, D. C.

"Before you ask what you want to do, ask yourself what you can do," Mr. Foley told 23 initiates and 30 active and associate members. He suggested that a district attorney's office is "the greatest school there is. You deal with real facts and real people and you prepare cases for trial and write briefs and memoranda," he added.

The U. S. Congress with its many legislative and investigating committees provides another source of learning and advancement for lawyers. Since the White Senate of Georgetown has staffs have been chosen largely on a non-partisan basis. There is little turn over even among the Vice and Means, Appropriations, Foreign Affairs and Judiciary Committees, Mr. Foley explained

"It's hard to break into a professional staff position, but once the you do the opportunities for learning are unlimited," he said.

Prior to the banquet the initiation was held in the United States Court of Military Appeals. This is the first time a PAD initiation in Washington has been held in a court room.

Bruce N. Goldberg, Md. '54 and Ed­wood Dunn, Justices of Taft and Jay Universities, respectively, presided. They were assisted by John Murray D. C. '53, Floyd T. Renan­baum, N. Y. '52, Daniel King III '54 of Taft and Grant Stewart, Jim Bear and Tom Kerwan of Jay.

Robert E. Redding, Justice of Dis­trict No. 12, administered the PAD Oath and served as toastmaster of the evening.

Among the many prominent leaders of the business, politi­cal and educational fields who attended a dinner honoring the Governor, was Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S.J., Regent of the Law School.

LAW SCHOOL HOST TO JUSTICE JACKSON
On March 11 the Law School was host to Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of the Supreme Court. Speaking to the members of the Student Bar Association and the faculty in John Carroll Auditorium, Mr. Justice Jackson outlined in detail the problem the young attorney encounters in his practice and the ways in which some of these problems can be eliminated.
