Flynn, ’15, and Condon, ’16, Honored By Providence Alumni at Banquet

Both Are on Bench of Rhode Island Supreme Court—Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S.J., Principal Speaker—Father Lucey and Lt. Gov. Hurley, of Massachusetts, Address Gathering—Large Group of Alumni Present

Chief Justice Edmund W. Flynn, LL.B., ’15, and Associate Justice Francis B. Condon, LL.B., ’16; LL.M., ’17, of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, were guests of honor at the dinner given by the Georgetown University Club of Rhode Island, at the Narragansett Bistro, in Providence, February 18, 1935. The Rhode Island Alumni is one of the most active and efficient Georgetown Alumni Clubs in the United States. The graduates love their loyalty and University spirit. About 200 people were present, and letters and telegrams were received from many others who were unable to attend.

Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S.J., president of the University, was present. He has just returned from a trip to Japan, where he served as American representative at the fifteenth international conference of the Red Cross in Tokio, which he attended as American delegate at the appointment of the late John Barton Payne. In his address, Father Nevils lauded Chief Justice Flynn and Associate Justice Condon as true representatives of Georgetown. He also declared that Georgetown, while not the largest university in the world, is an international university in the sense that its graduates are found everywhere. In Japan, China, Ceylon, Malaya, Suez, Italy, France, Belgium, and England, Father Nevils stated, he met Georgetown men in high positions, doing honor to their University.

The toastmaster of the dinner was Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S.J., regent of the Law School and professor of ethics, spoke on the subject, "Our Graduates." He traced the origin and purpose of the school being taken by the alumni. He has conceived the idea of the Law School number of Alumni, and by the exercise of sound judgment, prompt decision, and with progressive ideas has begun a new era in the school.

Lieutenant Governor Speaks
Hon. Joseph L. Hurley, LL.B., ’20, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts, brought “Greetings from Massachusetts.” Governor Hurley was very prominent in all class activities while he was a student at the Law School, and has always retained a warm interest in the school.

Hugh J. Fegan, assistant dean of the Law School, responded to the toast, “The Supreme Court.” In his address, Mr. Hogan traced the essential purpose of the Court, declaring “it is the tribunal which protects the people from any wrongdoing by the Legislature, the Governor, or their fellow citizens.”

Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S.J., regent of the Law School and professor of ethics, spoke on the subject, “Our Graduates.” Father Lucey is chiefly responsible for the renewed interest in the school being taken by the alumni. He has conceived the idea of the Law School number of Alumni, and by the exercise of sound judgment, prompt decision, and with progressive ideas has begun a new era in the school.

D. C. ALUMNI HEAR FATHER NEVILS, S.J.

Tells of Recent Trip to Japan—Luncheon Held at University Club

The Georgetown Law School Alumni Club of Washington held a very successful luncheon at the University Club on Thursday, March 14. In accordance with the custom of having a distinguished speaker give a short talk, Rev. Coleman Nevils, S.J., president of Georgetown University, described his recent trip to Japan, and around the world. Father Nevils related, in his customary interesting way, some of the more important events of his trip. He found Georgetown men in every section of the world he visited. He was entertained in Shanghai by the Georgetown Club of that city, and in Tientsin he was greeted by some Chinese children who had been taught to sing " Sons of Georgetown." The Reverend President's impressions of Japan and his first-hand observation on economic conditions in Europe were very interesting.

Judge O'Donoghue Presides
Hon. Daniel W. O'Donoghue, ’99, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, president of the club, presided. Judge O'Donoghue pointed out the need for increasing the membership of the club. He explained that the Georgetown Law School men in Chicago, Florida, Utah, New York, and Providence looked to the District of Columbia that Georgetown men in every section of the world he visited. He was entertained in Shanghai by the Georgetown Club of that city, and in Tientsin he was greeted by some Chinese children who had been taught to sing " Sons of Georgetown." The Reverend President's impressions of Japan and his first-hand observation on economic conditions in Europe were very interesting.

President of the Florida Alumni of Georgetown University

Curtis L. Sparkman, LL.B., ’16, was appointed circuit judge by the Governor of Florida in March, 1934, to fill an unexpired term after he had received the unanimous endorsement of the members of the bar of the circuit. In the past general election he waged a victorious campaign and was enthusiastically re-elected to serve for a full term.

Judge Sparkman is president of the Florida Alumni Association of Georgetown University, and is a descendant of a family long prominent in the affairs of that state. His father, the late S. M. Sparkman, represented with distinction the First Florida District in Congress, during his long and brilliant career.

Judge Sparkman was born in Tampa on May 15, 1890, and attended the public schools. He was later graduated from Georgia Military Academy in Atlanta. He entered Georgetown Law School in 1913. Receiving his LL.B. degree in 1916, he was immediately admitted to practice in Florida. During the World War Judge Sparkman was a first lieutenant in the Eighty-second Division, with more than a year of active service in France. In 1919 he resumed the practice of law in Tampa, and soon became recognized as a leader at the Bar.

His present judgeship is another attainment in his distinguished career.

ALUMNI ORGANIZATION

A little more than a year ago the seeds were sown for planned and organized Alumni cooperation throughout the country. At the earnest solicitation of George E. Hamilton, Dean of the Law School, the Washington Alumni group was organized. The constitution of that body was drafted by Dean Hamilton as a model for other Alumni bodies to be organized in the various states and cities. This body was formed as the center of a new organization to bind together Georgetown graduates throughout the Union.

The past 12 months have brought increasing enthusiasm everywhere. New clubs have sprung up and old ones have taken on a New Deal. In the current issue of The Hoy a we find accounts of varied activity. In Providence the Rhode Island Alumni held a dinner which was the scene of what is perhaps one of the largest gatherings held in honor of Frank Hogan, LL.B., '02, member of the Washington, D. C., Bar, was one of the speakers at the meeting of the Florida State Bar Association, held on February 1 and 2 at the Ponce De Leon Hotel, in St. Augustine, Fla.

Representative Michael L. Igoe, LL.B., '08, had a brief but pithy reply for reporters who inquired as to what kind of legislation he would be interested in, as one of the new members of the Seventy-third Congress—"Any kind of legislation which would further commercial relations." The Representative at Large from Illinois comes to Washington well-equipped for his new duties. Since his graduation from the Law School, Igoe served as a member of the Illinois General Assembly, of which body he was minority leader for 12 years; and as Assistant United States District Attorney at Chicago, which post he held for four years. He also was a Democratic national committeeman for two years.

Of 11 officers and directors of the District of Columbia Bar Association recently elected to serve for the current year, eight are graduates of Georgetown Law School.

Capt. Frank J. Keedy, U. S. A.; LL.B., '24; L.L.M., '15, is executive officer in the office of the Chief of Finance, being located in the Munitions Building, Washington, D. C.

Samuel I. Foley, LL.B., '14, District Attorney for the Bronx County, N. Y., was a visitor at the school while in the city attending the crime conference as the representative appointed by Mayor La Guardia, of New York.

Brenden J. McCann, LL.B., '15, patent lawyer of Washington and Chicago, died recently after a short illness. Mr. McCann was a member of the firm of Carpenter, McCann, and Taylor.

Francis C. Vonachen, LL.B., '26, was recently reelected county judge at Peoria, III.
J. HOWARD ZIEMANN, '28, MARRIED IN NOVEMBER

J. Howard Ziemann, LL.B., '28, a comparatively recent graduate of Georgetown, was married last November. Ziemann's scholarship was very marked, even in his Law School days. Upon receiving his degree in law from Georgetown, he secured a position in law in Los Angeles, floating in the law department of the Los Angeles Trust, which period he acted as part-time instructor in the law department of Loyola College. In 1920 Ziemann came to Los Angeles, and became a full-time professor, continuing in that capacity until he assumes his duties as dean of the Loyola College of Law only two years later.

WASHINGTON, D. C., on February 28, 1935, following an illness of several months, William W. Bride, LL.B., '05, died in Washington, D. C., on February 28, 1935, following an illness of several months.

Buried in Arlington Cemetery

William W. Bride, LL.B., '05, died in Washington, D. C., on February 28, 1935, following an illness of several months. He was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention from 1913 until 1916, when he was appointed to the staff of the Governor of Nebraska. He was a member of the inaugural committee for President Wilson in both 1913 and 1917. During the war he held the rank of captain in the Army Intelligence Service, and after the armistice returned to private practice, which consisted chiefly of work in the Federal Courts.

He was counsel for the Rumanian Legation in Washington from 1924 to 1927. On July 1 of that year he was appointed corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, being recommended for that office by Sidney P. Taliniferro, LL.B., '13, who was at that time one of the District Commissioners. While corporation counsel, he completely reorganized that office and brought it to a high standard of efficiency. During those years he also served as general counsel to the Public Utilities Commission. He resigned from the post in 1934 and was appointed chairman of the District of Columbia Board of Scope and Sentence.

He was a member of the Delta Chi Fraternity and was one of the founders of the Georgetown Chapter. At one time he served as national president of that body. He also belonged to the Army and Navy Club, the Racquet Club, and other various organizations. In 1932 he was toastmaster at the "G" banquet, introducing Floyd J. WILSON, W. LAW DAMES ORGANIZED BY WIVES OF STUDENTS

Mrs. Wm. H. Soisson, Jr., is President—Dr. Solterer and Ruby Address Meetings—Dinner in Honor of Father Nevils Planned

Due primarily to the efforts of Mrs. H. G. Reuschlein, of the Law School, the Georgetown Law Dames’ Club was organized and held its first meeting on January 16. This organization is composed of the wives of budding young barristers. The club’s activities are bi-monthly meetings either in the Law School or local homes of members. At the meeting of February 18, Dr. Josef Solterer, professor of economics, addressed the club. His topic was, “The Current Economic Situation.” Dr. Solterer then held an open forum, and the numerous questions evidenced the keen interest which the members had taken in his subject.

At the meeting of March 4, James Star Ruby, professor of English literature at the College, spoke on “Edna St. Vincent Millay—Her Sonnets and Opera, ‘The King’s Henchman.’”

The Law Dames are planning a dinner, to be given in honor of Dr. Samuel W. Johnson, Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S.J. president of Georgetown University. This affair will be held at the Admiral Inn on April 25. On this evening the husbands of the members are guests at their dinners.

The members are as follows: Mrs. H. G. Reuschlein (advisor), Mrs. Wm. H. Soisson, Jr. (president), Mrs. George F. Smyth (secretary), Mrs. Paul M. O’Connor, Mrs. M. L. Devine, Mrs. J. L. Lund, Mrs. J. SECOND YEAR EVENING CLASS HOLDS DINNER

Professor Toomey Guest of Honor—Debaters Give Short Talks

Professor James A. Toomey was guest of honor at the annual winter banquet of the Second Year Evening Class of Georgetown Law School. The dinner, which was attended by 50 members of the class, was held on December 6.

The program included an informal discussion between the two speakers, short talks from George Q. Coffelt, and Mark P. Smith, participants in the recent prize debate, as well as the introduction of new members of the class. A novel description of the law of torts, domestic relations, and bills of certificates to members in good standing day, May 8. A prominent speaker on May 8.

PAUL F. O’DEA PRES. OF WHITE LAW CLUB

Series of Intra-club Debates Being Used to Determine Winner of Best Speaker Prize for Current Year

Since the mid-year examinations, the Edward Douglas White Law Club has continued its activities of the first semester with a renewed vigor. Organized to promote public speaking through the medium of Appellate Court arguments, the club is again pursuing the policy of more frequent debates, minimizing business meetings. Under the careful guidance of the committee on judicial sessions, consisting of Associate Justice Needle and Messrs. Caiola, Sargent, and T. D. Schall, six intra-club Appellate Court debates have been presented. In this case easily carried the award to himself and away from the earnest endeavors of his opponents.

The enthusiasm which marked the first half of Carroll Law Club’s current year has continued unabated into the last semester. Sustained interest of the members in the activities of both organizations has resulted in a larger attendance at the meetings, and that, in turn, has inspired debaters and speakers to greater effort.

William M. Whalen, ’36, was adjudged the best speaker in the second prize debate, when he defended the splendid forensic training he received in the club debates. It was hoped that George A. Chadwick, ’37, who represented Carroll in the third prize debate, would join Mr. Whalen in the finals, but Carroll had to be content to share with Gould, the victory, on the question of

THIRD PRIZE DEBATE HELD MARCH EIGHTH

Joseph Vincent Dillon Presents Well Prepared Argument—John J. Hurley, ’38, Earns Second Place

Friday evening, March 8, was the occasion of the third prize debate of the year at Georgetown Law School. Well attended, it brought honor to the First Year Morning Class as a whole, and for one of its members the prize as best speaker and a well-earned right to participate in the final prize debate of the year to be held in May. The man selected as best speaker was Joseph Vincent Dillon, of the class of 1937, a resident of New York, a member of the Pierce Butler Law Club, and a graduate of West Point.

Not often is such an honor as a prize debate award won by a freshman student, but so well and convincingly did Dillon argue, that only the other three members of the Pierce Butler debate committee, due primarily to the efforts of Mrs. Maurer, who has done much in support of the club, and furtherance of the club’s activities.

CHARLES PIOZET, '14
PROMOTED BY PRESIDENT

Named Chief of the Appointment Division By Roosevelt—Has Been With Navy Department Many Years

Charles Piozet, L.L.B., '14, was recently named by President Roosevelt to the position of head of the appointment division of the Navy Department. On entering his new post Mr. Piozet recalled the various Navy Yards, and sometimes doing clerical work in the Navy Department. On entering the Navy Department he received civil service papers, and was told to return to it shortly after the depression. Piozet thus finds himself over a man who used to be his chief, but who resigned from the Government only to return to it shortly after the depression started. At one time Ralph T. Bartlett served as clerk in the civilian branch, and he now returns to the position Mr. Piozet is vacating.

Piozet entered the Navy Department as a messenger boy, and received civil service status at the age of 18. He has been in the appointment division continuously since 1906. He was recently honored by being elected president of the Association of Personnel Officers of the executive departments, an independent establishment. He is a native of the Capital, and since childhood has resided at Hyattsville, Md.

BANKHEAD, '95, AND WALTER, '19, PLAY BALL

Two Georgetown Grads Selected for Posts on Mythical Team Composed of Federal Gov't Officials

Two Georgetown University Law School graduates are named on the mythical all-official "United States" football team composed of federal officials from various agencies who starred on their respective football teams a decade or so ago. Representative Frank B. Bankhead of Alabama, Class of '95, was selected for one of the end positions, while Representative William B. Bankhead of Georgia, who graduated in '95, would fill the roll of running back halfback.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, former full back and tackle of Groton, would, of course, call the signals for this powerful all-official eleven. From the general consensus, the team might line up for the kick-off as follows:

End—Representative Walter (Pa.), Georgetown.

Bankhead and Walter Stars
Tackle—Representative Fish (N. Y.), Harvard.
Guard—Justice Stone, Amberst.
Center—Representative Rogers (N. H.), Dartmouth.
Guard—Representative Reed (N. Y.), Ohio State.
Tackle—Secretary Dent, Nebraska.
End—Assistant Secretary Robert, Georgia.
Quarterback—Representative Lambertson (Kans.), Ottawa.
Halfback—Representative Bankhead (Ala.), Georgia.
Halfback—Representative Randolph (W. Va.), West Virginia.

Fullback—President Roosevelt, Groton.

J. B. ARCHER, '97, DIED JANUARY 22

Frederick B. Archer, LL.B., '97, died at his home in Washington, January 22, after months to after his retirement from active practice because of sickness.

Mr. Archer was born in Washington, March 3, 1877, and was admitted to the bar in 1898, having graduated from Georgetown Law School at the age of 18. He had been associated in the practice of law with Charles Arthur Smith and, at the death of Mr. Smith, formed a partnership with Mr. Smith's nephew, John Lewis Smith, which continued until 1926.

The Bulletin of the Bar Association of the District of Columbia for January, 1935, says, in part: "Upon the appointment of the Hon. John E. Lankey, Professor of Criminal Law and Procedure in the Law School, Mr. Archer was appointed Principal Assistant District Attorney on October 19, 1913, and during his term of service participated in the trial of many famous cases, including the Godsell extradition proceeding in the case of Wells v. Roger, defense of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth amendments to the Constitution, opposition to William Randolph Hearst's attempt to enjoin the Emergency Fleet Corporation (Inn.preparing Board) from taking supernumerary vessels, successful defeat of a mandamus proceeding against the Secretary of State to publish the "Knox Peace Resolution" notwithstanding the fact that it had been vetoed by the President of the United States, and many others. Twice after Mr. Hearst's resignation from the Cabinet, he became specially retained by the Attorney General (Republican party), for which he was) to conduct important criminal cases for the Government, notably the "Nicky" Arnstein conspiracy trial and the John William Henry embezzlement appeal.

President of D. C. Bar
"Always active in the interests of the Bar Association and its activities, Mr. Archer was elected its president for the year 1922, and served with remarkable distinction. He was admired and respected by his colleagues, and was universally recognized as the bar's foremost authority.

To be Adjutant and Inspector of Marine Corps—Was Commandant of Haitian Government Recently—Decorated by Haitian Government

Clayton B. Vogel, L.L.B., '27, was selected for one of the end positions, while Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama, who graduated in '95, would fill the roll of running back halfback.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, former full back and tackle of Groton, would, of course, call the signals for this powerful all-official eleven. From the general consensus, the team might line up for the kick-off as follows:

End—Representative Walter (Pa.), Georgetown.

Bankhead and Walter Stars
Tackle—Representative Fish (N. Y.), Harvard.
Guard—Justice Stone, Amberst.
Center—Representative Rogers (N. H.), Dartmouth.
Guard—Representative Reed (N. Y.), Ohio State.
Tackle—Secretary Dent, Nebraska.
End—Assistant Secretary Robert, Georgia.
Quarterback—Representative Lambertson (Kans.), Ottawa.
Halfback—Representative Bankhead (Ala.), Georgia.
Halfback—Representative Randolph (W. Va.), West Virginia.

Fullback—President Roosevelt, Groton.
JAMES REECE DUNCAN, LL.B., '25

Georgetown Grad Receives Judicial Appointment January 19—Formerly in U. S. Consular Service

James Reece Duncan, '25, was appointed special justice, to be known as judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Alexandria, on January 19, 1935. The appointment to this office followed closely upon Mr. Duncan's appointment as civil and police justice of Alexandria by the Hon. Walter T. McCarthy, judge of the Sixteenth Judicial District of Virginia, on January 10, 1935.

Mr. Duncan, a native of Alexandria, Va., received his education at St. Mary's Academy and the public schools of Alexandria and attended St. John's High School in Washington, D. C. He served in the United States Navy, on a convoy ship, during the World War. Following the war, Mr. Duncan was employed by the State Department, and in 1928 he was sent by that Department to the American High Commission, American Embassy, Constantinople, Turkey, where he served as chief clerk until 1922.

Mr. Duncan received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1925, when he was singularly honored by being elected permanent class secretary. On October 29, 1924, he was appointed special assistant to the Attorney General of Virginia before the District of Columbia-Virginia Boundary Commission to fix a boundary line between the District of Columbia and Virginia.

He has practiced law in Alexandria since 1925, and is a member of the Alexandria Bar Association, District of Columbia Bar Association, and the American Bar Association.

These recent appointments received by Mr. Duncan are a tribute to his integrity in serving the citizens of Alexandria and the state of Virginia, which highly recommended him for these positions of trust.

ECHOES

Thomas N. Tappy, LL.B., '24, of Daytona Beach, Fla., writes: "I appreciate receiving the "Hoya" this timely. It is a welcome change from the roar of the big city, dates November 28, which was received under sunshiny skies and a refreshing breeze. I am enclosing herewith my personal check for $1.00 for one-year's subscription thereto."

Brown Rudd, who declined the candidacy for reelection to the office.

PAGE is a native of Rome, N. Y., and his early education was received at the local parochial schools; after which he was enrolled at St. Aloysius College. Later Page attended Georgetown University Law School, and received his degree of LL.B. (1922), and LL.M. (1923). Before graduation from his law school, he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and on April 3, 1923, he was admitted to practice in the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. On January 15, 1925, he was granted the distinction of practicing before the Supreme Court of the United States. Shortly afterward, he was admitted to practice in New York City.

From July, 1923, to May, 1929, Page was associated with former Supreme Court Justice M. J. Larkin, and from January 1, 1930, to January 1, 1934, he was a law partner of City Judge Walter W. Abbott, under the firm of Abbott & Page. His offices were maintained in Rome, N. Y.

His appointment as Third Assistant District Attorney took place on October 1, 1932, by Mr. Rudd, the then District Attorney. Since that time, Page has been affiliated with the District Attorney's office, as a member of its staff. He is a member of the Oneida County, New York State and American Bar Associations, as well as being affiliated with Lodge 96, of the B. P. O. E. Other social activities include the Kiwanis Club of Rome; Council 291, Knights of Columbus; and the University Club of Utica.

GORMAN, '95, DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN JAN.

Lifelong Resident of Chicago—Formerly Member of United States House of Representatives

Former Representative George Edmond Gorman, LL.B., '95, of Chicago, Ill., died of a heart attack on January 13, 1935. He was 61 years of age. He had practiced law in Chicago since 1900, the year after his graduation from George-town University.

He was born in Chicago, April 13, 1873. After obtaining his law degree, he practiced in Chicago, being associated with the firm ofCrowe, Gorman and Savage. He was elected to the Sixty-sixth Congress from the Third Illinois District, serving from 1919 to 1921. In 1920, he was appointed first assistant to Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney. He was appointed master in chancery and attorney for the South Park Commissioners in 1928. Late in 1934, he became attorney for the Consolidated Chicago Park District.

During the war he was a member of the Exemption Board Selective Service. He was president of the Chicago Bar Association and a member of the Illinois Athletic and Press Clubs and the Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations.

He is survived by his widow and five children.

D. C. BAR ASSOCIATION NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Eight of Ten Elected Are G. U. Grads—Class of '13 Has Three Men Elected

The District of Columbia Bar Association elected its officers for the current year on Tuesday, January 15, 1935. Of the 10 officers and directors who were selected to lead the Washington Bar for the year, eight are graduates from Georgetown Law School.

It is notable that the Class of 1913 predominates, having three members selected to office. Robert F. Cogswell was selected as vice president; Walter M. Dustin, treasurer; and George E. McNeil, director.

Fairfax shield McCandlish, LL.B., '06, was elected to the office of first vice president. Four other directors are also Georgetown graduates: Milton W. King, LL.B., '15; Seton Darr, LL.B., '06; Francis W. Hill, '17; Frank F. Nesbit, LL.B., '19.

FAIRFAX SHIELD McCANDLISH, '06, DIED ON AUGUST 23 LAST

Was Prominent Member of Virginia Bar

Fairfax shield McCandlish, LL.B., '06, one of the most prominent lawyers of northern Virginia and an influential citizen of Fairfax County, died at his residence in Fairfax, August 23. He was a member of the law firm of Barbour, Keith, McCandlish & Garnett, with offices in Fairfax and Washington. For a number of years he was a member of the County School Board and was a member of the Illinois Athletic and Press Clubs and the Illinois and Chicago Bar Associations.

He is survived by his widow and five children.

NEW PLAN INAUGURATED BY GOULD LAW CLUB

Bi-monthly Debates Held—Judicial Topics Discussed—Banquet Planned for April

Inauguration of a plan alternating brief talks on matters of semi-judicial character with the more formal appeal cases, and the limiting of meetings to one hour in length has produced an increased and more active membership in the Ashley Mulgrave Gould Law Club. Under the new program, debates are held each week, the intervening meeting being set aside for presentation of topics of particular importance by the members. The organization, likewise, has continued its policy of voluntary participation in the activities, feeling that better preparation results from self-imposed assignment.

The "Legislative and Judicial Relation of Hawaii and the United States" was the subject of the principal paper at the meeting of March 20, presented by Arthur J. Trask, '37. A native of Honolulu, he constructed his topic on the viewpoint of the Hawaiian, outlining wherein that relationship was defective and in what particulars it appealed to his people. At the same meeting, James M. Proctor, '37, detailed the workings and purpose of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and Henry A. Queen, '37, presented an interesting study of the causes of the adoption of the Case Method of Instruction in American Law Schools.

Prefacing the debate held the evening of March 13, Joseph J. Cantrell, '37, spoke on the activities of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. The debate that evening concerned the right of recovery for injuries from fright and fear for another's safety, sanctions of the right being evidenced by a decision in favor of its proponents, Daniel J. Leary, '37, and A. A. Tomeldon, '38. R. M. Brown, '38, and R. J. Mahalney, '38, as counsel for the appellee, attacked the right. Leonard A. Thomas, '36, is chancellor of the Gould Law Club. The other officers are Joseph A. E. Harkin, '37, vice chancellor; Robert W. McMillan, '37, secretary; and George Q. Coffelt, '37, treasurer.

JOSEPH CHEZ, LL.B., '97

Attorney General of the State of Utah.

He has been most active in organizing a Georgetown Alumni Club in that State.
J. T. NEWTON, '95, DIED SUDDENLY THIS MONTH

Was Former Commissioner of Patents—Prominent Patent Attorney—Well-known Editor and Author on Patent Law

James Thurwell Newton, L.L.B., '95, died suddenly from a heart attack at his office, in the National Press Building, in Washington, on Thursday, March 14, 1935. He was formerly Commissioner of Patents. The cause of death is stated to have been a heart attack at the time of his death was still one of the foremost patent lawyers in the country, in spite of the fact that he had reached the age of 73.

James T. Newton was born in Morgan County, Georgia, on July 17, 1861. Having received his B.S. degree from the University of Georgia in 1880, he came to Washington in 1891. He served one of the youngest republics, which is a fact that his death in 1935 was of great concern to the younger generation. F. W. Marks and Clerk, a prominent firm in Washington, had employed him as a Commissioner in 1914. In 1917 he was raised to the position of Assistant Commissioner, and served in that position until 1921, when he retired from the service of the Government to join the firm of Marks and Clerk, a British concern specializing in foreign patent work.

He had compiled a standard work on patents, known as "The Digest of Patent Office Trade-Mark Decisions," which was issued in 1896. In 1900 he published "Newton's Trade-Marks."

brought home to him in recent years a deplorable retrogression in the field of international arbitration. The audience was composed largely of students and members of the law faculty.

Professor Nielsen Responds

Professor Nielsen in closing invited them to follow this path:

"Coming from a land which, although it is a comparatively young nation, may perhaps be considered the oldest of the republics in a strictly modern sense, to one of the youngest republics, which is a very old nation, I find in your law school I have observed, one of exceptional interest. I hope that you will all return it some day by visiting Washington. Naturally, you will not find there the many interesting old historic landmarks I find here, but you will find there some very interesting ones, which we cherish very deeply, and many other subjects of interest. And you will find there good will and sincere friendship on the part of the Government and all the people of the United States toward your own Republic and toward every other nation in the world."

EDWARD DOUGLASS WHITE MEMORIAL

The American Bar Association, meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., January 29-31, approved a resolution that the association do maintain the birthplace of Edward Douglass White, L.D., '92, "as a permanent memorial to a great Chief Justice and a great citizen." This maintenance fund, headed by Chief Justice Eugene Van Dantar and Roberts, of the U.S. Supreme Court, and Mr. Copley, clerk of that court, is to be held in trust by the Knights of Columbus, and is known as the Chief Justice Edward White Memorial.

Degas, '19, PLACED ON TRIAL BENCH

Georgetown Grad Made Associate Justice of Municipal Court of Nashua, N. H.—Appointed by Governor of State

Bolte A. Degasis, L.L.B., '19, a graduate of Georgetown Law School, was associated with Justice Degasis of the Municipal Court of Nashua, N. H., by ex-Governor John G. Winant on the 31st of December, 1944. This appointment runs until the appointee has reached the age of 70, which in Mr. Degasis' case will not be until 1973.

The Municipal Court of Nashua has two justices—Mr. Degasis is the associate justice, with work including criminal, juvenile, and civil cases. In criminal cases he determines jurisdiction over cases up to $500 fine and one year in jail, and in civil cases a jurisdiction up to $500.

Before receiving this appointment, Justice Degasis was engaged in the practice of law in Nashua.

presented so forcefully, according to the decision of the judges, and chosen as the next best, was another first-year man, this time of the Evening Section of the School. He was John Joseph Hurley, of the class of 1938, and a resident of Massachusetts, and an A.B. of Holy Cross College. He ably represented his school, the Ashley Mulgrave Gould.

The remaining two speakers were Daniel Trigg Sargeant, of the class of 1935, representing the Edward Douglass White Law Club, and George Albert Chadwick, Jr., A.B., Princeton, representing the John Carroll Law Club. Acting as presiding officer was Paul F. O'Dea, class of 1935, of the Edward Douglass White Law Club, and the court bailiff was Richard T. Kromberg, class of 1937, of the same club.

The judges were Hon. F. Dickinson Lets, associate justice, Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, who served as chairman; Austin F. Canfield, Esq., of the class of 1925, and a member of the board of directors of the District of Columbia Bar Association; and Ralph DeShields Quitner, Esq., of the class of 1908, first vice president of the District of Columbia Bar Association.

FINCH, '07, TO TEACH INTERNATIONAL LAW

Will Lecture During Session of Academy of International Law at the Hague Next Summer

George A. Finch, L.L.B., '07, will deliver a course of lectures on "The Modern Principle of International Law," at the next session of the Academy of International Law, to be held in the Palace of Peace at The Hague from July 29 to August 24, 1935. In reviewing the career of many of Georgetown's graduates, that of George Finch is a typical example. Beginning his rapid rise in his profession, be entered the Department of State in '06 as a law clerk. In a short time, he was promoted to the position of Assistant to the Counselor. In 1909 he was appointed to the American Commercial Court in Liberia. During the same year, he became the managing editor of the American Journal of International Law. His ability in this particular field was rewarded by positions of distinction as secretary of the American Society in International Law, and assistant director, Division of International Law, and in the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He served as delegate in the second and third International American Scientific Congress in 1915 and 1924. Mr. Finch's ability in this field has been recognized by his appointment as professor of international law in the Washington College of Law from 1931 to 1934, and as professor of the same subject at the summer session in the University of Michigan in 1932. At present he is engaged as a member of the executive committee of research in international law under the auspices of the faculty of the Harvard Law School, and in his official capacity is assistant secretary general of the American Institute of International Law.

John I. Cogswore, L.L.B., '13, was one of five attorneys appointed to constitute a special supreme court for the state of South Carolina to hear and decide a single case, which came about by the entire supreme bench being disqualified. It was on a petition for mandamus under the original jurisdiction of the state supreme court, brought to test the constitutionality of an act of the legislature, inducing the salaries of judges.

The Law School is to vote for the South Carolina Bar Association, as are the other members of this special court.

DOCTOR SCOTT'S WORK Praised in English Land

"... True internationalism depends upon the exaltation of the spiritual natural law. It is perhaps not altogether an accident that the position of Dr. Scott's work in our time should have gone with the rediscovery of the Bible. In our time, it was at once a disciple and a brother to Sir Edward Thomas Aquinas, and that the high priest of international law in our own day, James Brown Scott, American Presbyterian, should have devoted his latest work to the restoration of the Bibl e."

During the last four years of his term he was the Democratic floor leader. He is a past commander of the American Legion of Rhode Island, and served in the Seventy-first, Seventy-second, Seventy-third, and Seventy-fourth Congresses. He was appointed by the President to the position of associate justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island. During his student days at Exeter School he was a member of the Carroll Law Club and the debating society. Mr. Fegan also quoted the following from a biographical sketch of Chief Justice Plym, which appeared in the 1915 Domino Day Book, the year in which Chief Justice Plym was graduated from Georgetown with the degree of Bachelor of Laws: "He was a captain in the Harvard track of the class of 1885, the Harvard track teams that ever wore the purple of Holy Cross; he played hard and clean, never sensational, always dependable. As he played on the diamond, so does he in the game of Life." Chief Justice Plym was graduated from Holy Cross College in 1912, and received the degree of Bachelor of Laws from Georgetown University in 1915. He was an excellent athlete, and represented the class in track. Chief Justice Condon, of the Rhode Island Supreme Court, has been his classmate for twenty years. Judge Stephen J. Casey, '96, told of the services rendered by the members of the Class of 1915, and the former associate justice Condon was no mere ornament, but was keenly interested in the welfare of his classmates 20 years ago.

PIGGUTT ALUMNI HOLD DINNER

Washington Attorney Feted at Banquet—Iron City Chapter Has Been Very Active

The Alumni of the Pittsburgh District have been especially active of late in their efforts to promote a more intense interest among their members in the alma mater. During the past year, under the leadership of Joseph G. Smith, they have held several “alumni teas” and have established a “Gutenberg Luncheon Table” reserved at one of the leading hotels each week at which the alumni gather to discuss the interests of the school.

On March 21, 1935, at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, the Georgetown Alumni gave a banquet in honor of Frank J. Hogan, LL.B., ’02; LL.D., ’25, now in Pittsburgh as defense counsel for the “Georgetown Luncheon Table” reserved for Mr. Hogan by the alumni. The banquet was attended by 150 alumni and was presided over by Andrew W. Mellon in the United States Government Tax Case.

Time for March 11, 1935, carries an account of Mr. Hogan’s career. There is a photograph of Mr. Hogan, who is a member of the faculty of the University of Utah, and a caricature and a sketched portrait of the same, which is continued on page 10 of the banquet program.

Alumni Association of the University, Hogan is president of the National Alumni Association of the University, and was Commencement Orator in 1925, at which time he received the degree of Doctor of Laws.

The committee in charge of the dinner included: Dr. Charles A. Duffy, J. J. Kilroy, J. F. McKeen, Jr., Dr. Charles A. Duffy.

Joseph Chez, LL.B., ’97, Attorney General of the State of Utah, has organized an Alumni group in that state. The following is a copy of a letter sent to alumni throughout the state:

STATE OF UTAH OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL SALT LAKE CITY MARCH 22, 1935.

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNI:

You are invited to join the Utah Law School alumni in Utah to meet and organize a Georgetown Club. The purpose is to promote friendship, professional fellowship, and the Georgetown spirit in Utah. It will be enjoyable to have a yearly meeting in conjunction with the annual banquet in Salt Lake City.

Therefore, as a Georgetown alumnus, I most cordially invite you to a meeting to be held at my office, 909 First National Bank Building, Salt Lake City, Saturday, the 6th day of April, 1935, at 2 p.m., for the purpose of getting acquainted and also to organize a Georgetown Law School Alumni Club in Utah.

I hope you will not fail to be present. Let us do this for our alma mater. It is the duty of all members of our school to support and help in every way to advance the welfare of our alma mater.

Fraternally yours,

Joseph Chez, Alumnus, Georgetown Law School, Class of ’97.

GEORGETOWN LAW MEN IN DEPT. OF JUSTICE

Howard L. Doyle, of Decatur, Ill., a member of the Class of 1917, Georgetown Law School, has been nominated by the President to be United States Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois. Mr. Doyle obtained his college work at St. Francis College, Quincy, Ill., and enrolled in the Law School September, 1913. He completed, with distinction, the course of study and was graduated June 11, 1917. While he was a student at the Law School Mr. Doyle was attached to the office of Senator J. Ham. Lewis, of Illinois. He was admitted to the Illinois bar shortly after his graduation and at once entered upon a practice. He is at the present time Assistant United States Attorney at Decatur, III., and is one of the ablest trial lawyers in the state.

While a student in the Law School Mr. Doyle was considered one of the most forceful and convincing speakers in any of the student organizations. In connection, it is interesting to review the names of Georgetown Law School men who have the latest edition of the Register of the Department of Justice.

Assistant Attorney General

George C. Sweeney, ’22, a prominent member of the Carroll Legal Society, while a student at Georgetown Law School, was Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

In the Division for the Enforcement of the Anti-Trust Laws we find Russell Hardy, ’18, special assistant to the Attorney General. In the same division, Prof. Reuschlein Chosen for Membership in National Honor Society.

In the Tax Division of the Department of Justice is following men: Prof. Reuschlein Chosen for Membership in National Honor Society, and Edward R. Walton, Jr., ’22, are at the office of Junius S. Romney, Jr., in Salt Lake City.

It will be enjoyable to have a meeting in the near future at which newly elected members of the alumni association will become members. Rev. Francis E. Lucey, S.J., Regent of the Law School, who is the president of the Georgetown Chapter, will preside.

This honor fraternity was founded at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, in 1926, and now numbers 143 chapters. Its purpose is the inculcation of the ideals of scholarship, scientific attitude and method and social service in the study of all social problems. Members of the fraternity are limited to juniors, seniors, graduate students, alumni and instructors who have shown themselves to be of high character and influence in the study of social science.

Each year a few men in the Law School who have made the highest average in the Law School are elected to this honor society. Election depends upon excellence in studies, loyalty to the school and high scholarship. The men who have been elected this year are:

Prof. Harold G. Reuschlein, A.B., LL.B., professor in the Law School.

Third Year Afternoon

THE HOYA

TINGEY, ’23, PRESIDENT UTAH BAR ASSOCIATION

Served on Committee Which Drafted Bill Incorporating Utah Bar—Was on Journal Staff While at Georgetown

Allan S. Tingey, L.L.B., ’23, was recently elected president of the Utah State Bar Association. His appointment culminates three years of very vigorous work with the State Bar. In 1930 he served as a member of the Utah Bar Association, and while in that capacity, there was drafted the bill incorporating the Bar, and the bill, bearing his name, was passed by the legislature of 1931 with an unanimous vote. A year later he was elected a Commissioner under the new state organization for a term of three years, and last year served as the vice president of the organization.

He is now serving as Republican state chairman for the state of Utah, and conducted the 1934 campaign.

During his senior year at Georgetown, he served as a member of the editorial staff of the Law Journal; he was a member of the District of Columbia Law Club; president of the Utah State Club; and officer of Carroll Congress; and chairman of Pi Gamma Mu.

He is at present associated with Junius S. Romney, under the name of Tinge and Romney, in Salt Lake City.

seemed to converge on one spot. Accompanied by Father Vincent McCormick, S.J., the distinguished rector Magnificus of the Alma Mater of all Jesuit institutions, in the world, the Georgiann University, it was the privilege of the president of the Alma Mater, Dr. Fred K. Nielsen, to present for an unusual private audience to His Holiness, Pius XI, gloriously reigning.

"Passing the Piazza Santo Pietro into the Cortile S. Damaso, we ascended the broad stairs leading to the halls where the Holy Father is accustomed to greet visitors. All the while gayly but attractively garbed Swiss guards saluted us and the gracious Knights of Cape and Sword conducted us along the many rooms, even past the throne hall, till we came to the one immediately next to the Pope's private office.

"His Holiness went on as an old pastor and priest with cases between the United States and Mexico.

Another Georgetown Law School man well known in the field of International Law is George A. Finch. Dr. Finch has always taken an active part in the affairs of the American Society of International Law, and is secretary of that organization. He is also chairman of the Committee on Annual Meetings. Mr. Finch had, for some years, been associated with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He will conduct a course of lectures on "The Modern Sources of International Law" at the Academy of International Law in The Hague during the Second Term, July 1-27, 1935. Mr. Finch is, at present, managing editor of the American Journal of International Law.

Many Reminders of University

On his trip around the world, after being invited to attend the international Red Cross conference as a delegate, Dr. Nevils declared there was hardly a place he visited where he did not find some reminder of Georgetown. Justice Flyn, and Associate Justice Condon responded with speeches of appreciation on the presentation by Father Nevils of the copies of the Gazette of Georgetown. Chief Justice Flyn in a very effective speech referred to the

Letters of Congratulations

The following letters of regret were received:

Mr. John C. Goings,
Secretary Georgetown University Club of Rhode Island,
Providence, R. I.

DEAR Mr. Goings:

My delay in answering your telegram of February 5, inviting me to the testimonial dinner to be given to Chief Justice Edmund W. Flynn and Associate Justice Francis B. Cordon, graduates of the Law School of Georgetown University, was delayed because of my hope that conditions adverse to acceptance might be overcome.

To my great regret I find that this hope may not be realized.

Due to the pressure of work accumulated on account of a cold not yet overcome, I am obliged to deny myself the pleasure of being with you on February 18. It would please me more than words can express to be the guest of an Association that has done so much to advance the interests and keep warm the spirit of old Georgetown, and at the same time to participate in honoring the distinguished members of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, who, by their work and worth, have honored their Alma Mater. These circumstances, however, force me to content myself with sending, instead of bringing, to you and to your Association my thankful appreciation, and to your guests of honor my congratulations and good wishes.

With kindest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) George E. HAMILTON,
Alumni, Narragansett Hotel,
Providence, R. I.

My DEAR Mr. Goings:

Thank you for your letter of the 4th inst., extending the kind invitation of the Georgetown University Club of Rhode Island to me to attend the testimonial dinner in honor of Chief Justice Edmund W. Flynn and Associate Justice Francis B. Condon, to be held on Monday evening, February 18.

I am very sorry that previous engagements will prevent my attending. Will you kindly give them my regards and express my regrets to those who cannot be with them on this occasion.

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) THEODORE FRANCES GREEN,
Governor, Rhode Island.

William H. S. Callahan, '14, sent the following telegram to Toastmaster, Geoffrey University Alumni, Narragansett Hotel, Providence, R. I.

Felicitations Judges Flynn, Condon. Banquet Hotel Somerset, Massachusetts. Commend all alumni reporting recently officers including myself, presents being with you.

William H. S. CALLAHAN.

The following were present at the dinner:

Guests

Chief Justice Edmund W. Flynn; Associate Justice Francis B. Cordon; Reverend W. Coleman, LL.B., president of the University; Reverend Francis E. Lucey, S.J., regent of the Law School; Dr. Hugh J. Jegan, assistant dean, Georgetown Law School; Hon. Joseph L. Harlan, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts; Dr. William A. Mulvey, chairman; Dr. Michael L. Mullen, assistant dean; Dr. Eugene A. Hagan; Dr. Casimer J. Miga; Dr. Michael O. Coven; Joseph W. Grimes; Leo V. McAlloon; Dr. James J. Brady; William E. Boyle, LL.B., '34.
