C. H. ENGLISH, '05, TO RECEIVE DOCTORATE

Prominent Pennsylvania Lawyer Is Active Alumnus—Chairman of Penna. State Board of Law Examiners

Georgetown will honor one of its own sons at commencement exercises June 9 when it will bestow the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon Charles H. English of Erie, Pennsylvania. Mr. English, who graduated from the law school with the degree of LL.B. in 1905 and LL.M. in 1906, will receive this award in recognition of the prominence he has attained as a distinguished and outstanding member of the Bar of Pennsylvania. Born in 1883 in Erie, Pennsylvania, Mr. English came to Georgetown Law School after graduating in 1899 from the District of Columbia Preparatory School and Central High School in Erie. At the law school he took the same prominent part in school affairs he was later to play in public life. He was president of the debating team, a member of the Delta Chi fraternity, and in his senior year won all four prizes offered for outstanding achievements in different scholastic fields. In 1905 he was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court for the District of Columbia, and in 1907 returned to Erie, Pennsylvania, where he began the active practice of law.

State Constitutional Committee

Three years after having become associated with the firm of Benson and Brooks, Mr. English was appointed to the Commission on the Revision of the State Constitution, and a year later was one of a committee of five appointed to revise the rules of practice of the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania. During the Constitutional Convention held in the State in 1920, he served as Chairman of the Committee on Municipalities, and that same year was also appointed a member of the Tax Revision Commission of Pennsylvania.

Mr. English has had numerous opportunities to don the judicial robes, but has refused on every occasion, preferring to remain in active practice. The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in 1925 appointed him a member of the State Board of Law Examiners, and in 1930 he became chairman. It is significant to note that although the rules of the Supreme Court provide for but one reappointment of any member of the State Board of Law Examiners, the Court, on the same year was also appointed a member of the Board of Law Examiners, the Court, on

Native of New Mexico Appointed to Fill Vacancy Left By Death of Senator Cutting—Three Georgetown Men Now in Upper House of Congress

Reared in the city of Albuquerque, Senator Chavez attended the public and parochial schools of that city. He worked in the city engineering department of Albuquerque. In 1917 he came to Washington where he obtained a position in the office of the Clerk of the Senate.

Senator Chavez then entered Georgetown Law School and received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1920. He then returned to New Mexico, where he engaged in the practice of law at Albuquerque.

After serving as a member of the New Mexico House of Representatives, Senator Chavez was elected Congress-man-at-Large from New Mexico. He was a member of the Seventy-second and Seventy-third Congresses, in which he served with distinction. In 1934 he was a candidate for United States Senator in the body contested race which resulted in the election of Senator Cutting.

Senator Chavez joins in the Senate a former classmate at Georgetown, Senator O'Mahony, of Montana, who is a member of the class of 1920, and Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, a member of the class of 1920, and Senator Shively, of New Mexico, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Bronson Cutting.

H. M. AMOREZ, '24, IN BOUNDARY SETTLEMENT

Horace M. Amorez, LL.B., '24, private secretary to the Cuban Ambassador, and translator at the Cuban Embassy, was recently engaged in the settlement of the boundary dispute between Honduras and Guatemala.

After his appointment in September, 1930, to the office of chief translator of the Guatemalan Boundary Commission, he immediately left for that country where he remained for a year. While there he translated from Spanish into English all the documentary evidence presented by the Guatemalan government to the Special Arbitral Tribunal in Washington in support of the contention of the Republic of Guatemala as to the boundary between that country and the Republic of Honduras.

Upon his return to Washington he was made chief translator and interpreter for the Guatemala delegation. When the case was presented for final settlement he appeared before the Arbitral Tribunal. This was composed of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, who was president, and Dr. Bello Codesillo and Dr. Castro Urena, who were the members selected by each of the two litigating Republics.

The decision was satisfactory to both parties and terminated a very grave and lengthy boundary dispute.

The recent appointment of Hon. Dennis Chavez, of New Mexico, to the United States Senate gives Georgetown Law School a third representative in that distinguished body. Senator Chavez was named by Governor Clyde Tingey, of New Mexico, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Bronson Cutting.

Senator Chavez was born in the little town of Los Chavez, within the Chavez land grant, given to one of his direct ancestors by the King of Spain. His family has lived in New Mexico for many years, coming there after the conquest by Cortez in 1522.

Reared in the city of Albuquerque, Senator Chavez attended the public and parochial schools of that city. He worked in the city engineering department of Albuquerque. In 1917 he came to Washington where he obtained a position in the office of the Clerk of the Senate.

Senator Chavez then entered Georgetown Law School and received his Bachelor of Laws degree in 1920. He then returned to New Mexico, where he engaged in the practice of law at Albuquerque.

Since then he has been active in the political affairs of the state and served as member and later as chairman of the Democratic city committee, and was selected as a delegate to the state convention last year.

Although Mr. English has argued many important cases before the Supreme Court of his state, probably his most noteworthy espousal of a cause was his argument which resulted in a ruling by the Supreme Court making St. Vincent's Hospital of Erie the only Catholic hospital in Pennsylvania eligible to receive state aid. In 1910 he was appointed President of the Erie County Chapter of the Red Cross, and in his capacity as president, he has always retained his associations with these organizations and has served as director of the Pennsylvania Telephone Corporation, the Ohio Associated Telephone Company, the Central Carolina Telephone Company, the Up-State Telephone Company, the Union Trust Company of Erie, and the Griffin Manufacturing Company of the same city. His activities, however, have not been confined to the legal field, but he has found time to serve as President of the Erie Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of the Erie County Chapter of the Red Cross, treasurer and trustee of St. Vincent's Hospital, president of the County Bar Association, vice president and a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, and as president of the Erie Community Chest.

At present, Mr. English is a senior member of the law firm of English, Quinn, Leckewich, and Royer, of Erie, and will in all probability be tendered the presidency of the State Bar Association of Pennsylvania in the near future. CHICAGO ALUMNI TO HONOR M. L. IGEO, '08
The Hoyt has just received a letter from Jerome S. Breakstone, LL.B., '06, of Chicago, Ill. This letter embodied an announcement of a dinner of the Chicago Alumni Club of the Hoyt. The dinner is planned at the time to serve a dual purpose. It is customary of this Alumni group in the "Windy City" to welcome each new group of Alumni shortly after graduation, and to introduce them to the older Alumni. This is, of course, one purpose of the dinner at this time. But there is also another reason for holding this particular dinner. That reason is to do honor to the president of the Chicago Alumni Club and to felicitate him upon his recent appointment by the President of the United States to the office of United States Attorney for the northern district of Illinois. Igeo, who has just taken over his new duties by the oath of office, is a member of the Chicago Alumni Club, and it is felt that no more fitting time could be selected to honor him.

It is requested by the committee that reservations be made in advance so that there may be ample preparation for everyone. Mr. Breakstone has his office at 111 West Monroe Street, Chicago.

LAW SCHOOL GROWS DURING PAST YEAR

Over Twelve Hundred Volumes Added—State Reports and Citations Being Completed

The past year witnessed a further expansion in the facilities of the library. This has been but another step in the program of improvement of the Law School instituted by its regent, Rev. Francis B. Lucey, S.J. Attention has been given to health and the comfort of the student. New chairs and desk lamps have been added to the library a place conducive to study.

More than 2,000 volumes were received during the year, bringing the total number of volumes well over 18,000. Present plans call for bringing up to date those state reports which have previously been taken care of by the Reporter System. This has already been done with most of the states, and it is expected that this work will be completed before the next school year. Another addition of great value has been the further extension of the Citator Service, which is now virtually complete.

The collection of legal periodicals, both domestic and foreign, has continued to grow, and is at the present time one of the finest in any law school. Another rapidly growing collection is that of books prepared by Alumni in cases in which they appeared as counsel. These have proved of great value to the students and professors in the preparation of their own briefs in most court cases.

With the improvements and additions already received and those to be received in the very near future, the Law School library holds an enviable position.

The library staff during the past year was composed of John P. Wholihan, head librarian, Roger A. Fortuna, Warren E. Belanger, and William M. Whelan, assistants.

ROBERT A. MAURER, LL.B., '06
Professor of Constitutional Law whose article in the recent Law Journal was outstanding

LAW JOURNAL

Reviews and a report on recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States rounded out the issue.

Perhaps the most noteworthy article to be published in some time was the article of Professor Maurer on "Emergency Laws," at page 671, volume XXIII. Written a month or more before the decision of the Supreme Court in the Schechter Case, and published more than a week prior to the holding of the court, Professor Maurer once again demonstrated his knowledge of constitutional law and his keen insight into the reasoning and theory of the Court. In dealing with the NRA in his article, Dr. Maurer came to the conclusion that it was unconstitutional on substantially the same grounds upon which the Court subsequently rendered its decision.

Professor Maurer said: . . . The fixing of wages and hours of labor through public authority by compulsory arbitration in effect an adjustment of opposing private rights. In this some public interest is involved, namely, the preservation of industrial peace, but the public interest is inadequate to justify the interference with constitutional liberty of contract . . . as the law now stands, governmental fixing of a standard of minimum wages, even for women, lacks sufficient public interest to outbalance private rights . . . "

" . . . If the objectives are in the nature of permanent reform in purely local social and economic conditions, such a legislative declaration (of an emergency) cannot be effective to make the Federal statutes constitutional, and the courts should ignore it.

"When circumstances give birth to a regulatory experiment in a field heretofore deemed to be within the protection of constitutional guaranties and limitations, the law of the constitution still remains in force."

These articles have been reprinted from the March issue. They are:
3. Professor Gerdes' article and a number of other recent notes have been abstracted by the new periodical, Current Legal Thought.

T. J. HURNEY, '11, LAW SCHOOL REGISTRAR DIES

Sudden Death Caused by Throat Infection—Had Held Position for Sixteen Years—Was World War Veteran.

"Alma Mater has lost a devoted son, and it will be hard to find one who can replace him in the efficient and devoted service he rendered to our Law School." With these parting words by Reverend Coleman Nevils, S.J., president of the University, did Georgetown Law School lay to rest the body of its beloved registrar, Thomas J. Hurney, who died suddenly at his home, 613 South Carolina Avenue S.E., on the eve of Good Friday. A streptococcal infection, which spread rapidly and affected the heart, was the cause of death.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Thomas J., Jr., Lorraine, and Francis J., Hurney, and three brothers. He was a brother of the late Reverend Francis J. Hurney, who for many years was rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, and who died about two years ago.

For 16 years students and alumni of the Law School have known, re­ spect and love "Tom" Hurney, as he was known to all. Born in the city of Washington in 1889, he was educated at St. Paul's Parochial School from whence he went to Georgetown Law School. He graduated in 1911 with the degree of LL.B., and the year follow­ing received his master's degree in law. After his graduation he entered the law office of Hamilton and Hamil­ton, of which firm George H. Hamilton, dean of the Law School, was the senior member.

When the United States entered the World War, he left his law practice to serve in the army, and ever since has played an active part as a member of the Vincent Costello Post of the Amer­ican Legion in Washington. Speaking of him at the funeral, Father Nevils said: "Our dearly beloved has been sac­rificed and has died in action. Not upon a military field of battle, but in the harder field of conflict, the fight for law and justice. And we have re­ceived word that he has died in action, and that his life, not for a mere country, but for heaven. Surely his passing away has made heaven more attractive to all. The fact that he is there will make us strive to merit the reward of being in the company for all eternity. Heaven, how­ever, is a reward, and we must model ourselves upon the example set us of quiet Christian charity, hope and love, and constant service in behalf of others."

In 1919, on his return from France, he joined the staff of the Law School as registrar, and it was while at the Law School that he met the girl he was to marry, Miss Lorraine Wall, of Wash­ington. Miss Wall at the time was the secretary to the then president of Georgetown University, Reverend John B. Creeden, S.J.

With that keen sense of patriotism and loyalty which distinguished his every effort from the moment he as­sumed his duties as registrar, Tom Hur­ney served the Law School and served it well. Only a few hours before he died, he had left his office at the Law School to attend a luncheon meeting of the District of Columbia Georgetown Alumni Club, of which he was the sec­retary. No one, seeing his smiling face at the meeting, could have thought that he was then suffering from a throat in­fection which, within a few hours, was to take from him the school he loved and whose traditions he cherished.

No more fitting tribute could be paid than these words of Father Nevils at the funeral mass, "Ever and soon Alma Mater is called upon to make a great sacrifice. Devoted members of the fac­ulty pass away and we suffer an intense bereavement. But with it all comes to our ears, echoing and re-echoing, 'The Lord hath given, the Lord hath taken away. Blessed is the name of the Lord.' And this is the message that I am sure our dearly beloved son would give to us. The Lord hath given us a sweet character, whose smile was always in­dicative of a clear conscience; the Lord hath given us a faithful friend, a de­voted son, a self-sacrificing husband, a loving father, an ever loyal alumnus; the Lord hath given us one who has been our joy for many years. The Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away. And shall we be less grateful because the gift has been taken away? Shall we feel that we of ourselves should possess him? He was a gift from God. Let us pay him the high and loving tribute that he will value most, and let us say as he would say himself: 'Be thankful, for the Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away.' There is but one answer—'Blessed is the name of the Lord.'"

EDGAR B. MERITT, '98, DIES ON MAY 2, 1935

Had Spent 40 Years in Government Service—Was Expert on Indian Affairs—Aided Erection of Coolidge Dam

Edgar Briant Meritt, LL.M., '98, died of pneumonia on May 2, 1935, at his home in the Northumberland Apartments, Washington, D. C.

For the past 16 years he had been as­sistant commissioner of Indian Affairs, and for the last year had served as an attorney for the Public Works Adminis­tration. He was responsible in a large measure for the erection of the Coolidge Dam, and represented the Department at its dedication, at which he was one of the principal speakers.
