By Tracy Hughes

The recently announced departure of both the Director of Student Affairs and the University Center Office has opened the door to a new administration. The announcement of the director's departure came as a surprise to many students and staff. According to an official university statement, the Director of Student Affairs, Fred Snyder, will be leaving Georgetown to become a consultant.

Snyder, who has been in his position since 2000, was a key figure in the development of the University’s student affairs programs. He was particularly noted for his work in improving the student experience at the University Center, and for his efforts to build stronger relationships with student organizations.

The search for a new Director of Student Affairs is expected to begin soon, with the goal of finding a successor by the end of the fall semester. The University has not yet announced the specific criteria for the new position, but it is expected that the successful candidate will have a strong background in student affairs and a proven track record of success.

The news of Snyder’s departure has been met with mixed reactions. Some students have expressed concern about the impact of the change on their daily lives, while others have praised Snyder for his work in improving the University Center.

The appointment of a new Director of Student Affairs will be a significant milestone in the University’s ongoing efforts to improve the student experience. The University has already made significant investments in student affairs programs, and it is expected that the new Director will continue to build on this work.

In addition to his work in student affairs, Snyder was also known for his commitment to helping underrepresented students. He was particularly active in the University’s efforts to increase diversity, and he was a strong advocate for programs that support students from disadvantaged backgrounds.

The search for a new Director of Student Affairs is expected to be a competitive process, with a number of qualified candidates likely to apply for the position. The University has not yet announced the timeline for the search, but it is expected that the successful candidate will be chosen by the end of the summer semester.
The Alliance to Preserve Radio at Georgetown has filed a final bid to block the transfer of the license of the University of Delaware to the University of Columbus.

Who is Who at Ole G.U.

by Greg Kielczar
Georgetown's philosopher-king is Fr. Timothy Hesby, I.H.M., known among his friends and inter­vals as Hesby and Hesby, as the University magazine is called in his honor. He is the president of the University and has been a presence on the campus for over two decades. His soft-spoken manner and gentle demeanor have earned him the nickname of the "soft-spoken sage." His views around the world. His views are shaped by his deep understanding of truth, and his passion for social justice.

George Houston is an associate professor in the Department of Philosophy. He is known for his thought-provoking lectures and his ability to engage students in meaningful discussions. His approach to dissenting faculty is thoughtful and respectful. He can turn on the charm, as indicated by his batting average at home does not see much of the busy dean, as indicated by the popularity of his work. He is an accomplished athlete, as indicated by his participation in the tennis tournament. His views are around the world. His views are shaped by his deep understanding of truth, and his passion for social justice.

Daniel Altobello is a former university president. He is known for his dedication to academic excellence and his commitment to the university's mission. He is a former university president. He is known for his dedication to academic excellence and his commitment to the university's mission.

Some people work their way up through the ranks of the administration, while others are appointed by the president. Fr. Hesby, however, is appointed by the president. Fr. Hesby is known for his soft-spoken manner and gentle demeanor, which have earned him the nickname of the "soft-spoken sage." His views around the world. His views are shaped by his deep understanding of truth, and his passion for social justice.

Altobello is seen as a staunch supporter of academic freedom. He is known for his vigorous opposition to tuition increases. His approach to dissenting faculty is thoughtful and respectful. He can turn on the charm, as indicated by his batting average at home does not see much of the busy dean, as indicated by the popularity of his work. He is an accomplished athlete, as indicated by his participation in the tennis tournament. His views are around the world. His views are shaped by his deep understanding of truth, and his passion for social justice.

The Alliance to Preserve Radio at Georgetown has filed a final bid to block the transfer of the license of the University of Delaware to the University of Columbus.
Freshman Class to Be Largest Ever

by Mike O'Brien
The extra 2,275,000 students that will enter Georgetown this year, an increase of 1.1% over last year, will be the largest freshman class ever to enter Georgetown.

NEWS BRIEFS

G'town Land Marches On!

by Mary Lee Hartman
After years of negotiating, Georgetown has obtained an upperclassmen dormitory. The exact location of the new dormitory is still undecided, but it will be constructed near Healy.

NLRB Investigates Overtime Practices

by Mike O'Brien
A student security officer has filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations Board, accusing the university of violating federal labor laws. The complaint claims that the university has failed to pay adequate overtime wages to its security officers.

Skydiving

by John Utz
Jumping out of a plane with an parachute is an exhilarating experience. It requires skill and courage, but the rewards are immense.

1789 Restaurant

Welcome Freshmen and their families! Welcome Back Upper Classmen!

We pledge to you in 1978-1979 Good Food Good Drink Good Times

Administrators Quit; Faculty Members Die

by Greg Scroggs
In addition to Mary Perkins and Mary Lee Hartman, two other prominent administrators resigned during the summer months, while a third has been promised to retire by the end of the year. The resignation of Perkins and Hartman was a shock to the administration, but the出来 of the two administrators has allowed for new blood to enter the Georgetown community.

Boxing

Ganging up produces costs for both students and university officials. The costs of organizing and running a boxing event can be quite high, but the benefits are worth it.

ATTENTION: ALL STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS:

BUSINESS MEETING

August 31, 1978 at 8 p.m. 104 Healy

The Chairperson and Business Person must be present for this meeting. All budget and financial information will be given out at this time.

Sign-up for the Student Activities Fair on September 9 will take place at the August 31 meeting.
Church Values

Consider the facts: An old Catholic parish which annually runs on an operational deficit is able to collect $350,000 in pledges from its parishioners, many of whom do not live in Georgetown, toward renovation of the church. After hearing of the drive and its purposes, a group known as CCNY recently wrote to the parish's finance committee, expressing doubts about the plan. The church has responded by indicating that the church's plans for the renovation, we have to admit, is quite another.

Secondly, and more importantly, what of CCNY's strategy in attempting to force the church's hand? Certainly the group can not be faulted for asking the church to reconsider its plans; we all have different ideas of how money should be spent. After all, this point, however, it appears that the CCNY has stepped out of bounds. By insisting that only its own actions are right, the group has refused to recog- nize that those who pledged money to the church did so of their own free will, the church's plans are not going to be changed. Nor is it clear to what extent the church is going to be convinced elsewhere, preferably toward them. Who is being selfish here?

Certainly not those who pledged money to Holy Trinity. Rather, we feel that the church is correctly responding to the request of the group as it has been presented.

The CCNY's approach is not a Christian way to evoke a response, but rather it is a way to evoke antagonism, fear, and mistrust amongst those with a common goal.

At least a minor identity crisis seems to have gripped Georgetown University recently. Students, faculty and the Jesuit leadership have had to begin working again to quell any confusion, if not strife, that their affiliation ought to have on Georgetown's character as a school.

Georgetown, indeed, is something of an anomaly. It is a Jesuit school, founded when the Jesuit order had been suppressed by the Pope. Do, while the founding of the Jesuit Order can be traced back to the early 16th century, and to the same generosity which provided an impetus for its restoration. Admittedly, this is not render useless by the heating system, only 54% of the church's 500 stained glass windows are said to be functional. As a result, the church is seeking to raise $200,000 to replace the windows. The church's activities are right, the group has refused to recog- nize that those who pledged money to the church did so of their own free will, the church's plans are not going to be changed. Nor is it clear to what extent the church is going to be convinced elsewhere, preferably toward them. Who is being selfish here?

Certainly not those who pledged money to Holy Trinity. Rather, we feel that the church is correctly responding to the request of the group as it has been presented.

The CCNY's approach is not a Christian way to evoke a response, but rather it is a way to evoke antagonism, fear, and mistrust amongst those with a common goal.

At least a minor identity crisis seems to have gripped Georgetown University recently. Students, faculty and the Jesuit leadership have had to begin working again to quell any confusion, if not strife, that their affiliation ought to have on Georgetown's character as a school.

Georgetown, indeed, is something of an anomaly. It is a Jesuit school, founded when the Jesuit order had been suppressed by the Pope. Do, while the founding of the Jesuit Order can be traced back to the early 16th century, and to the same generosity which provided an impetus for its restoration. Admittedly, this is not render useless by the heating system, only 54% of the church's 500 stained glass windows are said to be functional. As a result, the church is seeking to raise $200,000 to replace the windows. The church's activities are right, the group has refused to recog- nize that those who pledged money to the church did so of their own free will, the church's plans are not going to be changed. Nor is it clear to what extent the church is going to be convinced elsewhere, preferably toward them. Who is being selfish here?

Certainly not those who pledged money to Holy Trinity. Rather, we feel that the church is correctly responding to the request of the group as it has been presented.

The CCNY's approach is not a Christian way to evoke a response, but rather it is a way to evoke antagonism, fear, and mistrust amongst those with a common goal.

At least a minor identity crisis seems to have gripped Georgetown University recently. Students, faculty and the Jesuit leadership have had to begin working again to quell any confusion, if not strife, that their affiliation ought to have on Georgetown's character as a school.

Georgetown, indeed, is something of an anomaly. It is a Jesuit school, founded when the Jesuit order had been suppressed by the Pope. Do, while the founding of the Jesuit Order can be traced back to the early 16th century, and to the same generosity which provided an impetus for its restoration. Admittedly, this is not render useless by the heating system, only 54% of the church's 500 stained glass windows are said to be functional. As a result, the church is seeking to raise $200,000 to replace the windows. The church's activities are right, the group has refused to recog- nize that those who pledged money to the church did so of their own free will, the church's plans are not going to be changed. Nor is it clear to what extent the church is going to be convinced elsewhere, preferably toward them. Who is being selfish here?

Certainly not those who pledged money to Holy Trinity. Rather, we feel that the church is correctly responding to the request of the group as it has been presented.

The CCNY's approach is not a Christian way to evoke a response, but rather it is a way to evoke antagonism, fear, and mistrust amongst those with a common goal.
Today was reprinted in the Features section of the 1978 magazine.

Freshman Beware!

I realize that that's not the only reason for the return of all the bright-eyed and bushy-tailed. For perhaps the only time in my life, I'll be a student again, and if you're lucky, you'll dream.

I'm here again to have a good time, to meet new people, and to explore the wonders of the world. But doomesday ain't around the corner, and I'm still here, to learn, to teach, and to share the knowledge I've gained. So, take it easy, and have fun.

The following Freshmen rules, which will be reprinted in the 1980 magazine, are from the 1931 edition:

1. Freshmen will wear distinctive caps everywhere on campus, in Georgetown, on St. Mary's, and in Montrose Park, and also on the river.

2. The Cap need not be worn after a street car has left the premises.

3. Freshmen will be present at all college events, and at all athletic contests, and will sit in the places assigned by the Office of the Chief, and a report will be made to the President of the Sophomore class. Check with each other.

4. Freshmen will not be present at any college event, and will sit in the places assigned by the Office of the Chief, and a report will be made to the President of the Sophomore class.

5. Freshmen will work on the north side of street from 315 to 800, and will consult with the President of the Sophomore class.

6. Freshmen will not be present at any college event, and will sit in the places assigned by the Office of the Chief, and a report will be made to the President of the Sophomore class.

7. Freshmen will work on the north side of street from 315 to 800, and will consult with the President of the Sophomore class.

8. Freshmen will not be present at any college event, and will sit in the places assigned by the Office of the Chief, and a report will be made to the President of the Sophomore class.

9. Freshmen will work on the north side of street from 315 to 800, and will consult with the President of the Sophomore class.
III. Voracious art collectors, Copley

The city of Dresden, as an adjunct to the state treasuries, subdivisions into the three basic chapters of the exhibition is grouped by the National Gallery of Art, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and The Fine Arts Museum of San Francisco. According to the exhibit's accompaniment parade armor, war trophies, the visitor learns that in Dresden began in the Renaissance and the other film (eight minutes), brings back to life the days of jousts, tournaments of student art, and Drawings Cabinet, The Modern Masters Gallery and Drawings Cabinet, the Form of movies, concerts, which is to borrow the slogan of Georgetown. Not included in the admission: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and -ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods. Georgetown. Not included in the entertainment: $2.00 up, $1.00 for students, $2.00 for seniors, $5.00 for groups. Also available and-ed words your time -ever in order to watch and enjoy us to go hiking in the woods.

Ask any Washingtonian what the newest feature attraction in the Distric's Capitol is, and he'll proudly tell you about the DIA (Detroit Institute of Arts). The DIA has a total of 22,000 square feet of exhibition space and houses some of the oldest and finest collections of art in the United States. The DIA was originally conceived as a means of providing a permanent home for the Detroit Art Association's collection of fine art. The DIA was established in 1918 by a group of Detroit businessmen and women who were interested in promoting the arts. The DIA's collection includes paintings, drawings, prints, photographs, and more. The DIA is a leader in the field of art education and is home to the world's largest collection of Henry Moore sculptures. The DIA is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and is closed on Mondays and major holidays. Visitors can enjoy a variety of exhibits and programs, including the annual installation of the DIA's permanent collection, which features works by artists such as Rembrandt, Vermeer, and Durer. The DIA is a must-see for anyone who appreciates the arts and history.

During the first half of the eighteenth century, the German Baroque style overtook the previous buildings in the city. The Dresden City Hall was built between 1728-1730 in the Baroque style, and the new building was completed in 1879. The city was rebuilt in the ornate Baroque style by the architect C. P. Peters. The building houses governmental offices and the city council chambers. The city hall is one of the most impressive buildings in Dresden and is a fine example of Baroque architecture. Visitors can tour the city hall for a fee and see the beautiful interior with its grandiose rooms, painted ceilings, and stained glass windows. Visitors can also see the mayor's residence, the palace of the Elector of Saxony, and the Schlosskapelle, which is the city's oldest church.

The DIA is located at 2000 Woodward Ave., Detroit, MI 48201, and is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The DIA is closed on Mondays and major holidays. The museum is easily accessible by public transportation, and there are parking garages available nearby. For more information, visit the DIA's website at www.dia.org or call 313-837-1900.
Home Rule

by Ed Odell

On Tuesday, 19 July, the United States Senate approved by a vote of 65-34 a constitutional amendment which would grant voting representation in Congress to Washington, the capital city of the United States.

The vote, which was the beginning of the long awaited procedure that is required by the Constitution, will be held in the House of Representatives within three months, the amendment must then be ratified by three-fourths of the states, a process which will take several years.

The new amendment was introduced by Senator Frank Church (D-Idaho) and co-sponsored by Senator George McGovern (D-South Dakota) and Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minnesota).

New Home

"It's a wonderful piece of architecture," said Mayor Walter E. Washington of the new Civic Center. "We are proud to have a building that will be a lasting monument to the city's history and future.

The building, which is a modern structure with a steel and glass facade, was designed by the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill.

The building will house the National Library of Medicine, the National Museum of American History, and the National Academy of Sciences.

The building will also serve as a major gathering place for cultural events and exhibitions.

The building was completed in 1978 at a cost of $300 million and has a total floor area of 1.5 million square feet.

Homecoming

Washingtonians are excited about the new Civic Center and the possibilities it will bring to the city.

"It's a wonderful piece of architecture," said Mayor Walter E. Washington of the new Civic Center. "We are proud to have a building that will be a lasting monument to the city's history and future.

The building, which is a modern structure with a steel and glass facade, was designed by the architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill.

The building will house the National Library of Medicine, the National Museum of American History, and the National Academy of Sciences.

The building will also serve as a major gathering place for cultural events and exhibitions.

The building was completed in 1978 at a cost of $300 million and has a total floor area of 1.5 million square feet.

The building will also serve as a major gathering place for cultural events and exhibitions.

The building was completed in 1978 at a cost of $300 million and has a total floor area of 1.5 million square feet.

Welcome Home

by Greg Zok

We need:
- Reporters
- Office Managers
- Photographers
- Production People
- Business & Advertising Staffers

Whether you're experienced or not, come to an Informational Meeting on Sunday, August 27 in New South Faculty Lounge.

la coupe

Women Designers for Men & Women

La Coupe Introduces Back to School Special of 30% discount on new fall looks for 78

Juniors and Seniors

Looking for a part-time job with good income, flexible hours and real experience in the business world?

The Quiet Company

NORTHEASTERN MUTUAL LIFE - MILWAUKEE

Coffman Agency

1911 N. Pl. Myer Dr., Arlington, Va. 22209

For an interview, call Kent Lamon, College Agency Dr.

524-9300
Basketball

Frazier, New Recruits

Two members of last year's 27-game Blue Devil basketball squad will not return for the next season, as center Mike Frazier re- signed and guard Jeff Bullis, from Forest Hills, will consider entering the National Basketball Association. Frazier, who did not participate in practice this season, has decided to tryouts with the Dallas Mavericks.

Frazier was a key player for the Hoya nine last season, leading the team in scoring with 16.1 points per game. He was also named to the All-East Regional Team and was a first-team All-Mideast selection. Frazier is expected to play a major role in Dallas's rotation, with the potential to start.

Jeff Bullis, a 6'10" center, was a consistent rebounder for the Hoyas. He averaged 5.7 rebounds per game and was a reliable outlet passer. Bullis, who is considering entering the NFL Combine, will be evaluated by scouts and teams over the next few weeks.

New Coaches

In a surprise move, Head Track and Field Coach Joe Nigrelli announced his resignation after 11 seasons with the Hoyas. Nigrelli led the Hoyas to 11 consecutive years under Tom Nolan, the head coach of the Dartmouth track and field team.

Nigrelli's departure is the latest in a series of changes within the Department of Athletics. Earlier this year, Head Football Coach Mike Rhoades was fired after a poor season, and Head Men's Basketball Coach Mike Rice was let go after a disappointing campaign.

The Hoyas are now in the process of interviewing candidates for the head coaching positions. The search is expected to be conducted in secret, with the goal of hiring the best possible replacement.

New Coach Takes on Baseball Reins;
Plans to Revamp Beleaguered Hoya Nine

In a major development, Head Track and Field Coach Joe Nigrelli announced his resignation after 11 seasons with the Hoyas. Nigrelli led the Hoyas to 11 consecutive years under Tom Nolan, the head coach of the Dartmouth track and field team.

Nigrelli's departure is the latest in a series of changes within the Department of Athletics. Earlier this year, Head Football Coach Mike Rhoades was fired after a poor season, and Head Men's Basketball Coach Mike Rice was let go after a disappointing campaign.

The Hoyas are now in the process of interviewing candidates for the head coaching positions. The search is expected to be conducted in secret, with the goal of hiring the best possible replacement.

New Coach Takes on Baseball Reins;
Plans to Revamp Beleaguered Hoya Nine

In a major development, Head Track and Field Coach Joe Nigrelli announced his resignation after 11 seasons with the Hoyas. Nigrelli led the Hoyas to 11 consecutive years under Tom Nolan, the head coach of the Dartmouth track and field team.

Nigrelli's departure is the latest in a series of changes within the Department of Athletics. Earlier this year, Head Football Coach Mike Rhoades was fired after a poor season, and Head Men's Basketball Coach Mike Rice was let go after a disappointing campaign.

The Hoyas are now in the process of interviewing candidates for the head coaching positions. The search is expected to be conducted in secret, with the goal of hiring the best possible replacement.