I. Course Description and Objectives

This course is designed to provide an historical and analytical review of the substance of Catholic teaching on medical ethics, the style of moral reasoning used in the Catholic tradition and a survey of specific cases as they are debated and decided within the church. The objectives of the course are to provide students with the background and contemporary positions of Catholic teaching on medical ethics, with an understanding of the dynamic of decision and dissent within the tradition and with a review of the public and social positions taken by the Catholic church on biomedical questions. Assigned readings will review magisterial teaching, theological commentary and public policy analysis of selected biomedical issues.
