Chairman’s Notes

Dear Dental Graduate:

We all have a strong desire to make the Georgetown Dental Alumni Reunion a success—so let’s start the ball rolling in the right direction—make plans now—the date, Saturday, March 12, 1960. Depend on our memory—NEVER—open that appointment book now and write across the date “a must—Georgetown Dental Alumni Reunion.”

Each year the attendance has grown with very good reason. The desire to return periodically to our Alma Mater to meet old friends and classmates is present in all of us. At the same time, we are afforded the opportunity to check on the progress of our school.

This year plans have been made so that you may enjoy a more elaborate Alumni Day.

The student clinics, the testimony of the D.C. Post-graduate Clinics supporting, are among the very best. In addition there will be Postgraduate Clinics centered around the all embracing topic of high speed.

The Committee has a number of pleasant activities planned to entertain the ladies while the men attend the scientific sessions.

To top the campus program a reception will be held in the Lounge. After spending this last hour with friends, and new acquaintances, we depart, but only briefly, to prepare for the dinner at 7 p.m. at the Shoreham Hotel.

Father Bunn has graciously accepted our invitation to be the speaker of the evening.

Particular recognition will be given to the 5 year classes. Silver anniversary certificates will be presented the 25 year classes of 1935, by Father Bunn, and Dr. James Ruby.

Previous banquets were a sell out, so that the Committee may arrange for your comfort and enjoyment, we urge you to make your reservations early.

Lest we forget the departed Alumni, the Memorial Mass will be celebrated at 12 noon, Sunday, March 13th.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all Committee members for their assistance in preparing the finest program to date.

We have all the ingredients for a successful day, except “you”, so plan ahead—become part of making Saturday, March 12, 1960 a day to remember.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Taylor ’55
Chairman, Reunion Committee
As the American Dental Association enters its second century—signalized this past year by a special postage stamp issue—it faces problems and opportunities common to all professional bodies, and some which are peculiar to itself.

Briefly stated, the problems are reducible to questions of quantity and of quality. In an Appendix to the Surgeon General's Consultant Group Report on Medical Education, issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in October, 1959, sharp attention is called to the downtrend in supply of dentists to meet the demands of population growth. From 1930, when, with fewer than 75,000 dentists, the ratio was 59 dentists for every 100,000 persons in the population, the number of dentists has risen to nearly 100,000 but the ratio has fallen to 56 per 100,000 of population. Even this is not the entire picture; for, when consideration is given to the needs of governmental service, for instructors and for research specialists, as well as for depreciation by death or retirement, the figure actually dwindles to 46 dentists actively serving the civilian population, per 100,000.

In ten to fifteen years, considering the rate of population growth alone, it is estimated that 134,000 dentists will be needed. At our present rate of graduation, with slight foreseeable increases, the number will reach only 118,000 by 1975. One can well believe the conclusion of Dr. A. Leroy Johnson, in his “Dentistry As I See It Today,” that “not more than one-third of the people are receiving adequate dental care. The accumulated need for dental service is appalling.”

But numbers are not the only problem. Dentistry itself is progressing tremendously in its scope, and in the quality of its requirements. The emphasis of the past, on the repair and rebuilding of the ravages of disease or accident, is rapidly focussing more and more on prevention, on etiology, and on closer integration of dental health with the total health of the entire human person.

Within its own ranks: Dentistry, already something of a specialty in the field of medical health, is developing its own specialties in orthodontia, periodontia, endodontia, pedodontia, and the rest. And the end is not in sight, with new discoveries, new researches in techniques, in materials, and in relations of oral health with other aspects of individual welfare and well-being.

But if the problems are enormous, by the same token the opportunities are equally great for young people now in their schooling, for a career where there are presently more openings than qualified applicants, and in which they can look forward to a life of service urgently needed, and immensely rewarding.

In a step to arouse this interest, Georgetown will inaugurate during this coming Summer a new research program, offering opportunity for twenty boys and girls from the District of Columbia and from metropolitan area high schools to do research work in the Schools of Medicine and Dentistry at our Medical Center, and prepare for careers in medical and dental science. In a joint report recently presented to the University President, the Deans of both schools propose that “these high school students will participate as members of various teams actively engaged in some basic or clinical science, attend seminars, and be encouraged to use the library and facilities of the Medical Center; thus permitting them to gain insight into, and become a part of a medical center in action.”

In the future to which our Dental School looks forward, there is not only place, but urgent need, for the support in every way of our own Dental School Alumni. But the first requirement is that our Alumni should be aware both of the progress that is being made, and of the problems that lie ahead for their School. And for this reason, I am most happy to welcome one and all who will meet at our coming Dental Alumni Reunion in March. For in dental education, as in all human progress, it is still true that each generation is lifted to higher achievements on the shoulders of those who have gone before. I shall look forward to meeting and greeting many of you, who will thus show to us of today your continuing affection, remembrance and interest in Georgetown and in her School of Dentistry.
Now Hear This!

Clemens V. Rault

Each year on Alumni Day the opportunity is afforded us of meeting the returning alumni and showing them the changes that have taken place since their last visit or since graduation. The changes in the physical plant are always a source of wonder and interest. So many additions have been made during the past five years that the Medical Center bears no resemblance to the campus of that time. The Nursing School was the first addition, then in rapid succession came the Kober-Cogan Hall for dental and medical students, the Gorman Research and Diagnostic Building and then the new Animal Facility.

The Diagnostic and Research Building was barely completed last Alumni Day. This year alumni are urged to visit this building and see the various activities housed in the addition to our resources. At a cost of over three million dollars the Center has acquired a large Out-Patient Department for patients served by dentistry and medicine. All of the specialty services rendered by dentistry are housed there, including a well equipped and staffed Cleft Palate Clinic. On the upper floors are housed the research facilities and these include some of our dental research laboratories. The Animal Facility is very much worth a visit to see the splendid quarters that have been provided for research animals.

Next on the building agenda must come a new Medical Center Library, additional lecture rooms, laboratories, and space to expand the graduate program of the Dental School. Departments for the education and training of dental hygienists and dental assistants are a must.

The greatest service alumni can render the school is the recruitment of competent students to study dentistry. This has been repeatedly brought to your attention and you have responded well, but the need for good students is acute and additional effort is necessary.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has recently issued a report of consultants to the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. They state "Increases in dentist supply have been lagging behind population growth for more than a quarter of a century." "The number of dentists actively serving the civilian population has fallen from 58 to 46 per 100,000 persons over this period."

All professions are making a drive to get the competent intelligent student and it is up to the dentist to interest young men and women to enter dentistry, and it is up to our alumni that those they interest in studying dentistry come to Georgetown. If each alumnus sends us one good student each year, he will be doing a service to Georgetown and to the Dental Profession.

DEAR FELLOW ALUMNUS:

Welcome home! We are looking forward to seeing you at the reunion and hope that you will find it possible to spend a few additional days with us at the District of Columbia Dental Society's 28th Annual Postgraduate Clinic, March 13-16, at the Shoreham Hotel.

Our meeting is considered by our out-of-town visitors to be one of the finest of its kind in this part of the country, and we hope you will share in its fun and learning.

Sunday afternoon, you and your lady are invited to the gay reception honoring the President of the American Dental Association and Mrs. Paul Jeserich. While you are enjoying the hospitality and conviviality of this affair, your youngsters will be cared for and entertained at the Kiddies' Party. The teenagers are also provided for at a Teen Hop. We're set up to accommodate the entire family. "Togetherness" at a dental meeting? It's here.

The scientific sessions begin on Monday and last through Wednesday. Our objective of continuing education for the general practitioner is centered around the Limited Attendance clinicians and their authoritative presentations, as follows: Prof. Ralph W. Phillips—"Evaluation of Newer Dental Materials and Factors Affecting Their Clinical Success," Dr. John H. Mosteller—"Restoration of Teeth with Silver Amalgam," Dr. Sidney I. Silverman—"Practical Problems in Complete Denture Prosthesis," Dr. J. Bernard Hutcherson—"Repositioning of Teeth in Adults with Permanent Retention," Dr. Orville B. Coomer—"The Successful Practice of Restorative Dentistry," Dr. Frank E. Beube—"Periodontal Failures—Their Etiology and Prevention," and Dr. Harold Kane Addleston—"Modern Pedodontics—Principles and Practice." Capt. John E. Flocken will present "A Clinical Workshop with Televised Teaching of Rubberbase Technique for Fixed Prosthesis."

The panel discussions will include a live, color television presentation on "Diagnostic Procedures for the Dental Patient," a "Treatment Planning Clinic—How Would You Restore This Mouth?" and "Group Financing of Dental Care—What it Means to You."

The way to a man's heart may be through his stomach, but we're pairing up mind and stomach with a "Lunch and Learn" session which will see authorities on many varied subjects lead informal discussions during luncheon.

Projected clinics, table clinics, motion pictures and scientific exhibits will round out the comprehensive scientific program.

The commercial exhibits will take on a fresh look and be greatly increased in number in occupying the Shoreham's new Exhibit Hall.

Additional social activities will feature an Embassy Tea for the ladies Monday afternoon while friend husband lunches and learns, International Folk Night—a gala evening of free entertainment, the traditional Dinner Dance Tuesday evening and the Style Show Luncheon on Wednesday where the better halves will be given a postgraduate course in spending excess cash.

Events adding to the scope and spirit of the Clinic include the Maimonides Free Student Loan Fund Dance Saturday night immediately following the Georgetown Reunion, the American College of Dentists Breakfast Sunday morning and the Dental Assistants Dance that same afternoon after the President's Reception. The Dental Hygienists Luncheon will take place on Tuesday. All are welcome at these functions.

So return to beautiful Washington March 12-16 for a wonderful time. Relive the past with other of our Alma Mater's "old grads," enjoy the present at the many social affairs and probe into the future as it pertains to dentistry by attending the Clinic's scientific sessions. We'll be waiting for you.

Cordially,

The New Georgetown Dental Clinic

The $3,000,000 Lawrence C. Gorman Diagnostic and Research Building adjoins the existing Georgetown University Hospital Building to the south and is connected to it by a passage. Construction of the building began in September, 1957, and dedication took place in March of 1959.

Constructed of brick, aluminum and glass, the edifice has four stories and a basement. It will provide space for several departments now located in cramped quarters in other parts of the University’s Medical Center. It will also liberate space in the hospital building for some seventy additional beds for patients. Dentistry and Nursing as well as medicine will be provided for in the new building.

The Dental Clinic which is located on the 1st floor occupies 4,000 sq. feet of floor space. It is equipped with the most progressive and modern dental equipment available. Of the ten operatories, five are devoted to the care of the patients of the “Out Patient Clinic” of the hospital. The remaining five operatories are assigned to the departments of restorative dentistry, periodontics, prosthetics and orthodontics. An additional operatory and laboratory have been assigned to the Cleft Palate Clinic of the dental school.

Seven rooms have been assigned to the oral surgery department. The two operating rooms are of the latest design and feature the latest of equipment. A treatment room and four recovery rooms are included in the layout.

On the third floor of the building, two fully equipped research laboratories have been assigned to the School of Dentistry. At the present time, several research projects are underway.

While attending the Alumni reunion in March, you are respectfully requested to inspect these new quarters of the dental school. I am sure you will be most inspired by what you see.

The Georgetown Alumni Association makes grateful acknowledgment to Graham Magee, '24, and to the members of his Alumni Fund Council, John J. Power, Jr., '33, John T. Tunmore, '31, E. Theodore Stern, '30, and William S. Catherwood II, '42, on the completion of the 6th Georgetown Alumni Annual Giving Fund, by far the most successful to date. The Fund Report is now in preparation, and although final figures are not available as this issue of the Magazine goes to press, we are assured of an increase of more than $30,000 over the 1958 Fund and a substantial increase in the number of donors.

Mr. Magee and the Fund Council were responsible for the creation of three distinctive mailing pieces whose appeal was proved by the returns which followed each mailing. It was felt by the Fund Council that although mailing appeals have proved their value, there was entirely too little evidence of extensive work by state and local committees. As a consequence of that situation, a meeting has been called in Washington of the Alumni Board of Governors and of the Presidents of each of the local clubs to achieve an effective field organization for the 1960 Alumni Annual Giving Fund. As soon as the organization of the Fund Committee is completed, a concentrated effort will be made to raise some $97,000.00 before Commencement Day, which will bring our total, since the inception of the Fund, to one million dollars to assist Georgetown and bridge the gap between tuition income and educational expense.

John J. Power, Jr. '33, Executive Vice-President of the Automatic Sprinkler Corporation of Youngstown, Ohio, has agreed to serve as Chairman of the 7th Alumni Annual Giving Fund for 1960. He invites volunteer assistants through these pages.
