An Open Letter to My Sisters, With Love

You are athletes in training for a game
Controlled by men.
You want to play. They do not need you.
So you cajole them—you try to let them see
That you, too, can don the three-piece uniform
And speak of the "reasonable man,"
And if they say "he" and never "she,"
You too say "he--"
And I've heard you insist to your sisters
That "he" also means "she,"

You play a male game,
So to prove you can play
You jump at every chance to show
It doesn't matter, being a woman;
It won't inconvenience or offend them.
You do not cry, or overly sympathize
If a case involves a woman who has been raped,
Or who has lost her job.
You are the first to see the other side,
To set aside your feelings and think like a lawyer.
You do not ask, instead, that the game be changed.

Will you deny being a woman?
Will you be little men?
Your sisters, who need you, see the betrayal.
And someday, should you find you need them,
You might turn to them,
Only to be engulfed in the distance you created.

THE DUBLINER
INTERVIEW

Have you read our brochure and the graph on the wall? Do you take lemon, milk or do you use our product? Can you grow in a position? How do you do what it is you do?

I walk on soft ground and grin like a pumpkin. I lick the bowl until it shines. I can spit into the wind and miss or roll the eyes off a pair of bones. Once, thirteen pennies came up heads.

Do you like your bank? In a room with colleagues do you sit downwind? Does breath on your neck raise the hackles? Who is the next of kin?

I can count backwards while making change or whiling away on Doublemint. I like a good kiss and love a parade. I can eat chinese food with a fork lefthanded and balance your cup of tea on my foot. Fill my shoes. Hire me. Raise me. Sit back and watch me distinguish between morning and afternoon.

Gary Stein 1980
"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change. The courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."
